West Enders Jam Fairgrounds; Day's Total May Rise to 10,000

FILER, Sept. 12—Attendance at the second day of the Twin Falls county fair was expected to soar to 10,000 today as large crowds packed the fairgrounds early this afternoon. Today is "west end" day and is traditionally the best attended day of the fair, Tom Parks, secretary-manager said.

Admissions Wednesday at the main gate totalled 3,662, H. G. Lauterbach, Twin Falls, fair board member, said. The official figure does not include the rodeo attendance, which was estimated at about 4,000.

Buhl Grange walked off with top honors in the community crop exhibits, Parks announced this afternoon as judging was completed. Judging of livestock was expected to be completed late today and judging of the 4-H district fair exhibits will begin at 10 a. m. Friday.

Buhl Grange won first place for the most complete Grange exhibit and first for the best quality. Fairview Grange won second place for the most complete exhibit and third place for the best quality and most artistic arrangement, Parks said.

Mountain Rock Grange took first in the most artistic arrangement division and third for the most complete exhibit. Cedar Draw won second for the best quality and Knull grange took second for the most artistic arrangement.

"The crowd is coming in fast," Parks said early this afternoon, "and the attendance should be up to 10,000 persons."

Friday is "east end" day at the fair and Twin Falls stores will close at noon Friday. Drug stores and prescription counters will remain open until 1 p. m., according to Verle Moser, chairman of the Merchants' bureau.

Twin Falls schools will be closed at noon Friday to permit students to attend the fair, Supt. A. H. Morgan announced today.

The Friday program will feature a racing meet in the afternoon and the rodeo at 8 p. m., Parks said.

The 4-H district fair, which is attracting top junior fair exhibits from Magic Valley, opens Friday under the direction of L. M. Williams, Boise, superintendent. The home economics demonstration will be held at 9 a. m. Friday and a home economics demonstration will be presented at 2 p. m. Friday. The boys' judging contests will begin at 9 a. m. Friday.

Camera Takes a Look at County Fair

Among the displays attracting hundreds of spectators at the Twin Falls county fair today is the exhibit of flower entries, being viewed at top by Bonnie Watkins, Doris Walcott and Elaine Cecil, all of Twin Falls. Just as interesting as the produce being shown are the expressions on the faces of exhibitors as they watch judging of produce, as indicated in photo at bottom left. In this candid shot, those interested in outcome of the apple judging are shown giving rapt attention to the work of Antone Horne (right) of the University of Idaho, in whose hands rests the fruit of their labors. Among the proud winners in the poultry judging was Bob Holloway, who appears at right with his prize-winning Toulouse goose, which, being a gander, didn't lay any golden eggs but came through with a first [illegible] exhibited by the [illegible] of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holloway, route three, Twin Falls, won [illegible] the same second place. (Photos and layout by John Brosnan-staff engraving)

Sea Strike End Sought By Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Truman has instructed Reconversion Director John R. Steelman to take charge of the crippling maritime strike situation and try to work out a settlement today.

This announcement was made by Charles G. Ross, presidential press officer, who told reporters that members of the wage stabilization board, which last night refused to approve an AFL seamen's wage increase, were now giving a full report to Steelman.

"It is up to Dr. Steelman to make a decision, probably in the course of the day," Ross said.

As the spreading waterfront walkout threatened to shatter the entire Truman wage-price stabilization program, Ross told newsmen that Steelman has two courses open.

"One obviously is to approve the finding of the wage stabilization board and fight it out, with all that that implies," Ross said.

"The other is to agree with the maritime commission — and the unions and the industry—as against the WSB.

"Those are the alternatives."

Ros emphasized that Steelman is acting under authority of the wage-price executive order of last February which subjected wage increases to federal approval before they could be used as a lever to raise prices or to increase charges against the government.

Steelman also is acting on his responsibility to coordinate disputes between government agencies, Ross said.

Denied Pay Boosts

This issue arises in the conflict between the maritime commission, which espouses the AFL viewpoint, and the WSB, which ruled last night that two AFL seafaring unions are not entitled to higher wage increases than CIO unionists were granted in June.

Steelman's ultimate authority rests on the second war powers act [illegible] the president [illegible] possibility [illegible] of the [illegible] said that the recommended granting of the five-day week in previous negotiations. The employers reported they had offered a 42 or 44-hour week with proportionate wage increases. The union said it was asking a 30-cent per day increase on a 40-hour, five-day basis.

Control Issue

The conflict between the maritime commission and the WSB brought a new angle into the limelight of the all-coast dispute. The commission is a party to both the CIO and AFL wage contracts, since it still controls most of the merchant fleet.

By throwing its support in favor of the higher AFL pay settlement, some observers believed the commission would make it easier for the White House to yield to the union demands if Steelman decides to deviate from the "wage pattern" policy which has prevailed since February.

Ross was asked whether he meant that the White House had set "a hard and fast deadline for settlement today," and he replied "yes."

Stores Close In Dispute on Pay Increase

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 12 (UP)—A dispute between the Great Falls Retail Employers association and the Retail Clerks union, AFL, which has closed every major store in the city, entered its fourth day today with no signs of settlement.

A union spokesman said negotiations might be resumed within a few days at the request of Federal Conciliator Frank Ash of Denver, but that no agreement was in sight at present. Approximately 800 clerks were idle as a result of what the union said was a "lockout."

Shorter Hours Sought

The main issue in the dispute was establishment of a five-day, 40-hour week to which the employers admitted they were opposed.

A spokesman for the employers said the strike started Monday morning when clerks were "pulled out" of two stores after negotiations became deadlocked. Approximately 70 other members of the association closed their doors, the spokesman said, because negotiations "for 10 years have included the association and never one member."

Move Interpreted

"The employers felt that [illegible] the two stores [illegible] the association [illegible] that the recommended granting of the five-day week in previous negotiations. The employers reported they had offered a 42 or 44-hour week with proportionate wage increases. The union said it was asking a 30-cent per day increase on a 40-hour, five-day basis.

Wage Ceiling Topic of Meet Here Saturday

A wage ceiling for the 1946 sugar beet harvest will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Idaho and Oregon U. S. department of agriculture wage stabilization boards at 1 p.m. Saturday at the coast house, Carl Leonard, Filer, president of the Twin Falls County Beet Growers' association, said Thursday.

Representatives of sugar beet growers, sugar factories and laborers will decide whether or not they want ceilings on wage rates for topping and loading beets, Harry A. Elcock, district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company, declared.

Consider Revisions

The board will take under consideration any proposals for revisions in the existing wage order and extension of the area covered. Seven western Idaho counties and all eastern Oregon counties have not been under wage ceilings, Leonard explained.

The farm labor wage ceiling in Magic Valley, which also has included potato harvesting wages, has been $200 a month, County Agent Jack P. Smith explained.

Leonard said that although the seven Idaho counties had not been under a wage ceiling order that their labor costs had been in line with labor costs in this area and that no undue labor shortage in Magic Valley had been caused for that reason.

Wide Area

Representatives from 20 Idaho counties extending from the Idaho Falls area to the Oregon boundary and Malheur county in Oregon are expected to attend the meeting.

Twin Falls representatives at the meeting will include Elcock, Leonard and Gale Beavercombe, secretary of the Twin Falls County Beet Growers' association. Other leading sugar beet growers and refining company officials expected here are W. C. Carson, Welser; Ray Larson, Oregon district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company; Orville Miller, Shelley, president of the Idaho Beet Growers' association, and Paul Scalley, Idaho Falls, district manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company.

Hog Growers Ask Ag Chief For $20 Top

A $20 price ceiling on hogs was asked Thursday of U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson by C. T. McNealy, Buhl, on behalf of the Idaho Cattle Producers association, of which he is president.

McNealy quoted figures showing an upward trend in the cost of feed and farm labor of 174 per cent while pork prices gained only 92 per cent over average pre-war quotations.

Present feed prices, he stated, represent a total cost to the average hog-breeder of 18 cents per pound of live pork—which is 1.75 cents above the 16.25 cents per pound price ceiling on pork now in effect.

In the past three years, the state swine tally has decreased from 674,000 hogs in 1943 to 315,000 this year.

The association has received reports that hog-raisers are killing new-born pigs, dispealing of breeding animals and dropping out of the industry, McNealy said.

"Under federal control, the swine industry has not been given fair consideration with other products of agriculture relative to its value to the public interests and consumer demands," McNealy asserted.

He explained that Idaho hog-breeders deem the present relationship of the ceiling price on swine to the ceiling prices of other agricultural products "not in accordance with normal trade relations."

"We must not forget," he concluded, "that the various meat-producing industries operate in open competition with each other and with other industrial users of agricultural products."

A-BOMB APOLIGY?

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12 (AP) — A resolution of formal regret for the atomic bombing of the Japanese cities of Nagasaki and Hiroshima was presented today to the 55th triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

Vet Sleeps on Street Corner

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Joe Ziaya, former army captain wounded on the Normandy beach, spent his third night last night in an army bedroll on a busy corner in Queens.

"I've been here since Tuesday and I'm going to stay here indefinitely until somebody finds me and my wife an apartment," he explained.

One of his signs said "this is the home of Joe Ziaya! I want an apartment."

Senators May Probe Phases Of Occupation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UP) — The senate war investigating committee today considered probing the cost and conduct of the military occupation of Germany.

The committee, it was learned, has received reports that the conduct of American troops in Germany, from generals down, is "worse than the German occupation of France."

Reports Unverified

None of the reports, involving complaints of lax discipline and waste of American military supplies, has been verified.

But one member said the committee has received secret testimony claiming the faults can be traced all the way to the offices of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, U. S. commander in Germany, and Lieut.-Gen. Lucius Clay, his deputy.

McNarney and Clay were not directly accused of any misconduct but were reported in the secret testimony to have cognizance of actions by lesser generals which made it difficult to maintain discipline all along the line.

Welcome Probe

At the same time, it was said that McNarney and Clay welcome a committee investigation into the cost of zone-type of occupation of Germany, as compared with what it would be if all the reich were handled as a single unit.

When and if the committee could get into an investigation of military occupation was problematical, however. A thorough check would include a trip to Europe.

Slot Machines, $500 Taken From Club in Jerome

JEROME, Sept. 12—The American Legion club here is more than $500 poorer and minus three slot machines today after the bartender discovered a break-in when he came to work late Wednesday afternoon, Deputy Sheriff Jim Purdy, who investigated, stated.

The intruders gained entrance by tearing off the screen from a back window, then prying the slot machines open, the deputy reported. The break-in occurred sometime between midnight Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon.

Also investigating was Chief of Police Bill Groves.

Doctor Escapes Death in River; Saved by Minister

Dr. George C. Halley, Twin Falls physician, escaped drowning Wednesday afternoon by the tips of his fingers when he fell into the Salmon river while he was fishing one-eighth of a mile north of the reservoir dam west of Rogerson.

In his own words, this is what happened:

"I parked my car at the dam and began walking along the edge of the river. I slipped on some gravel or something on a ledge upon which I was standing and hurtled into the water.

"Because I can't swim I went under a couple of times and then I took a deep breath of air and thrashed my way to shore.

Couldn't Climb Out

"I got hold of a rock with the fingers of both hands but I couldn't get a foothold to climb out. Once I let go and fell downstream but I managed to get back again.

"I saw the keeper of the dam and yelled to him to go over and get a rope out of my car and he yelled back that there was a boat coming.

"This boat with the Rev. T. O. Weatherby, Nazarene minister at Filer, came along and I got my thumb through a ring in the front of the boat before I let go the rock.

"Then I went to the dam-keeper's house and dried off a little and drove back to town."

The doctor's mother, Mrs. Natalie Halley, accompanied him on his fishing trip to the Salmon dam area. Horrified as she watched him slip off the ledge, Mrs. Halley saw her son go under and then was unable to see him.

Believing that he had drowned,

Arabs Reject British Plans For Palestine

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A British source said several Arab league delegates at the Palestine conference emphatically rejected today the British-American experts' plan for federalization of the Holy land.

At least two Arab speakers objected that the plan meant that independence for their "brethren in the Holy land" would be delayed indefinitely.

Asks Independence

As Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin sat chain-smoking and tapping the big round-table with his pencil, one Arab representative cried that Palestine's independence should be granted now.

Other Arab speakers, the source stated, asserted federalization would be unworkable economically, emphasizing that there were no guarantees any measure of self-sufficiency could be obtained in any of the zones.

The attitude had been discounted earlier by Prime Minister Attlee, who in opening the conference said Britain regarded consideration of the plan only as "item number one" on the conference agenda.

Partition Planned

The federalization plan evolved by British-American experts would provide for establishment of four zones in Palestine—an Arab, a Jewish and two British areas. The Arab and Jewish zones would have only limited autonomy. All would be responsible for a central British administration.

Qualified informants hinted that Jewish representatives were extending "feelers" to Britain concerning further negotiation of the Palestine problem. These sources said the Jewish agency is prepared to suggest the resumption of conversations interrupted eight days ago.

Fliers Killed By Yugoslavs Back in U. S.

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Sept. 12 (AP)—Five American airmen shot down by Yugoslav fighters on Aug. 19, came home today—in coffins. Those killed included Capt. Blen H. Freestone of Springdale, Ida.

The huge Skymaster "Crescent Caravan," an army transport command plane, dropped on this airbase after a flight from Rome, with a stop at Labrador.

The big ship planned to leave for Washington, where formal ceremonies will be held.

Newsmen and the general public were barred from the ship.

To onlookers it was just another plane, until soldiers were seen carrying aboard fresh flowers to replace those placed on the five flag-draped coffins at Goose Neck, Labrador.

A guard of honor was placed at the gangway of the plane.

Only Col. Cortland S. Johnson, commanding officer at Westover, and an aide were allowed to board the ship, which was commanded by Capt. William J. Ryan.

Soviet Objections to Dealing With Franco Flare up in U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Russian objections to any dealings whatever with Franco Spain by the United Nations flared up today during discussion on a proposed opium convention in the U. N. economic and social council.

Nikolai Feonov, Russian delegate to the 18-nation council, raised the Franco question when the council heard that all nations which signed the 1925 and 1931 opium conventions would be asked to nominate persons for a proposed permanent central opium board under United Nations auspices. Spain was among the signatories.

"It is to be understood that the Franco government is invited to appoint members to the permanent opium board?" asked Feonov.

Informed by the chairman that the Spanish government "must be approached," Feonov quietly said that the Russian government reserved its right to discuss the subject in debate later.

Opposes Franco

Russia has consistently fought to have the United Nations break diplomatic relations with Franco Spain. The fact that the United Nations is obliged to approach the Franco government regarding the opium convention puts the U.N. in the position of dealing with a government that its general assembly has condemned.

Meanwhile, the whole controversial question of internationalizing Danube river traffic controls, as advocated by the United States, seemed assured of an early hearing in the economic and social council.

Hearing Sought

The intention of the United States to seek a full hearing on the issue was indicated yesterday during preliminary debate as to whether the council should place on its agenda a Yugoslav request for release of some 167 Danube river craft immobilized in the American occupation zone.

Despite Russian opposition to widening the scope of the question raised by the Yugoslav request, it appeared likely that all aspects of Danubian shipping would receive a thorough airing before the 18 economic and social conferees report back to the general assembly.

City Needs 900 Homes—Most Critical Spot, Says Expediter

Because Twin Falls needs an estimated 900 new houses, building pressure is stronger here than in any other city in Idaho, declared William C. Park, locality expediter, Boise, at a meeting of approximately 60 Magic Valley building tradesmen last night in Idaho Power auditorium.

Park said that if it can be shown that the housing situation in Twin Falls is more critical than the national average building need, it may be possible to obtain higher priorities for local construction.

He emphasized that contractors and lumber-yard owners must now make specific requests stating exact description of material wanted and date when it must be supplied in order to stand a chance of getting heavier allocations of scarce lumber and other supplies.

New housing regulations forcing lumber-dealers to accept priority-rated orders for material whether any is on hand or not were explained by A. J. Wall, Boise, district manager of civilian production administration.

Both rules, A and B, went into effect Sept. 1, are aimed at chan-

UNWANTED

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 12 — A grocery store ran this advertisement in a Frederick newspaper:

"We can't pull rabbits out of a hat or change your home to a castle, but we can pay you five cents a can to come carry these durn soybeans away. A genuine five cent piece, U. S. standard mint, is taped to every can of these soybeans. We can't sell 'em and we can't give 'em away. So—o—o we will pay you five cents per can to come and get 'em."

CAUGHT

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 12—Police, under direction of Mayor Andrew J. Carter, started a campaign on automobiles without city vehicle tax stickers.

A few minutes after the drive started the mayor appeared at police headquarters—with a traffic ticket which was left on his car parked in front of the city hall.

Carter explained he had purchased his sticker last winter—but had failed to display it.

Counterfeit Raid Brings $110,000

(Bogus Money)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UP) — The secret service today announced the arrest of four counterfeiters in New York and the confiscation of $110,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

It was the biggest haul of bogus money in the past 10 years.

Those arrested were Joseph Sofoka and Joseph C. Glaruzso, both of New York City; Joseph Paternoster, proprietor of a Newark, N. J., printing plant, and George A. Larkin, also of Newark.

Black Market on Textiles Probed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Government agents are investigating 300 corporations and individuals who are suspected of black market operations in textiles, the justice department disclosed today.

One of the officials directing the probe said the reported transactions involve "many millions of yards of textiles—from the raw state to finished goods."

"They have contributed materially to the present shortage of some clothing," he added. "For example, shirts, pajamas and women's dresses are included in the illegal deals."

Asked where the investigation is centered, the official said "it is countrywide—from Boston to Mississippi and from New York to the west coast."

Police Blockade Squatters in Luxury Apartments, Hotels

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Stalwart London bobbies blockaded London's hungry "squattera" in their preempted luxury apartments and hotels today as communist leaders of the squatter invasion defied efforts of the labor government to stamp out the movement.

Police, acting on orders straight from No. 10 Downing street (the office of the prime minister) to end the "forcible entry" of vacant private dwellings, refused to let agitpathlers pass food into three of the largest squatter-occupied buildings, despite pleas that "the children are hungry."

In retaliation, the squatters said they planned an appeal direct to King George VI for help and declared they would seek thousands of signatures on a petition to be circulated at a Trafalgar square mass meeting tonight. Communist backers of the squatters called another open-air mass meeting near Leicester square.

But since the king acts only on the advice of his ministers, the squatters already had the answer to their proposed petition. For the government denounced the whole squatter technique yesterday as an unlawful incitement to anarchy and threatened prosecution of the squatter leaders for criminal conspiracy.

Leaders of the five-day-old "luxury squatting" movement, which has installed working class families in a number of apartments normally renting for about $3,000 a year, talked of forcing beachfronts in the empty mansion of picturesque Hampstead.

Fifty men and women, chanting "Give the squatters water," marched to Marlebone town hall from Abbey lodge, one of London's most expensive apartment buildings, which was seized by squatters yesterday, but no water was turned on and police outside said "no one is going in here today."

2,000 Harvesters Sought for Idaho

BOISE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Several central states are being called upon to furnish at least 2,000 farm workers for Idaho's harvest season, State Farm Labor Supervisor R. K. Pierson said today.

T. J. Chester of Pocatello, district agent for the University of Idaho college of agriculture, already has gone to Stillwater, Okla., to confer with officials there. He will make arrangements for farm labor recruiting there and in Arkansas and other central states.

Pierson said several other extension service workers would leave next week to aid in recruiting work. They also will make arrangements for escorting the farm laborers to Idaho.

They include Levi Draney of Burley.

37 Nations Okay U.N. Meet Delay

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 12 (UP) — Thirty-seven nations, more than the required number, agreed today to postpone United Nations general assembly for one month to Oct. 23.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie, who reluctantly proposed the delay at the request of Russia, China, France and Belgium, announced that up to noon today no United Nations member had opposed the postponement.

Fourteen of the 51 United Nations still were to be heard from, but "a simple majority—26—is sufficient to approve the postponement which was sought chiefly by Russia.

nealing building supplies into veteran's houses, Wall indicated.

The first regulation lists the successive degrees of priority for all materials needed—federal directive, AAA, MM, HH, HHH and CC is the descending order on both—which include lumber, clay and concrete, electric wiring, hinges and hasps, wallboard, and plumbing supplies.

New this month is regulation of cement, Wall pointed out.

Schedule B deals with bathtubs, lavatories and radiators. Difference is that if a hardware dealer is holding goods listed on the first schedule, he may sell them but has to set aside 75 per cent of any new supplies received and on the second schedule he must hold 95 per cent of any goods he has for priority-sanctioned purchase.

Placarding of all construction is now mandatory, declared F. H. Hummel, chief underwriter of the federal housing administration, Boise. This move has been taken to thwart diversion of essential supplies to non-essential work.

Rifle Club Is Begun at Buhl

BUHL, Sept. 12—The Buhl Rifle and Pistol club was formed at a meeting Tuesday night in the Legion hall here. The club was organized as a class "A" unit, and will compete with other clubs with pistols, rifles and 30-06 rifles.

M. F. Smith was elected president; Lawrence Quigley, vice - president; Bob Thomas, secretary - treasurer; Perry Pierce, chief instructor; Jack Nelson, chief executive, and Leonard Almquist, publicity officer.

Members are entitled to a year's subscription to the American Rifle magazine and will be eligible to purchase government rifles, ammunition and other commodities that are available through the director of civilian marksmanship, according to Thomas.

A by-laws committee composed of Less Nelson, Carl Roland and Riley Maxwell was appointed to present a set of by-laws for adoption at the next meeting, Tuesday, Sept. 17, at the Legion hall.

Persons wishing to join as charter members are urged to attend this meeting at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday. The charter will be sent in for approval immediately following the session. Prospective members unable to attend should see any of the officers, Thomas said.

Keep the White Flag of Safety Flying

Now four days without a traffic death in our Magic Valley.

Forum Director Urges Slogan of 'Keep Pete Away'

Contending that the TVA lost $2,000,000 in its best year, 1945, A. Larron Colston, moderator, declared that the justification of Columbia valley authority is to be questioned, on the open forum Wednesday night, urged the use of a slogan by farmers in irrigated areas that goes like this:

"If you don't want to lose your water, keep Pete away from your headgates."

Colston stated that he refers to Pete Leguineche, Boise attorney who is Democratic nominee for congress from the southern Idaho district. Leguineche had been invited to appear on the program to discuss the CVA issue.

Substitute question debated by Ben Mottern, George Graw and Juanita Baker, all formerly in the service, was, "Is the CVA getting a square deal from the on-the-job working program?"

Colston declared that the three veterans were agreed that a limit of $200 a month combined salary and federal allotment was not sufficient to permit the ex-soldier to live on equal terms with the civilian who stayed home at steady employment.

They declared that but for time lost in the armed forces, veterans would be in line for better jobs now.

Since veterans can no longer count on a flat $90 per month training period allowance, these three young people relayed the fear that employers will be less willing to hire inexperienced ex-servicemen and women.

Intoxication Results In 10-Day Sentence

Arthur Hirvas, charged with intoxication, was lodged in the city jail for a 10-day term Wednesday when he was unable to pay a $15 fine.

He was arrested at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday by city police. He appeared before Municipal Judge J. O. Pumphrey.

Coupe Damaged in Crash With Truck

Fender damage was done to a coupe driven by A. Bengochea, 236 Shoshone street south, which collided with a truck driven by Bill Maxey, Burley, at 4:39 p. m. Wednesday in the 200 block of Main avenue east.

The truck was undamaged, said city police investigators.

MINOR ACCIDENT

Twin Falls city police investigated a minor traffic accident at 12:01 a. m. Thursday at the intersection of Shoshone street and Richfield lane, involving cars driven by Elsie Jensen and Gerald Painter. The accident occurred when the Jensen car went through a stop light, the report shows.

Son to Share In $200,000 Estate Here

In a legal action involving an estimated $200,000 in property, M. Wayne Johnson was awarded a half-share in the Magic Valley estate of his father, C. F. Johnson, in a supplemental memorandum decision handed down Tuesday by District Judge Guy Stevens, Blackfoot, in the civil suit which the plaintiff filed against his stepmother, Gertrude Walter Johnson, Twin Falls.

Involved were three apartment houses in Twin Falls, the Snake River ranch and funds left Mrs. Gertrude Johnson at the time of the elder Johnson's death in 1939.

Not Allowed

The second Mrs. Johnson had maintained that her husband died leaving no property, but this was not allowed in the judge's finding dated Aug. 1, 1945, which read:

"We find that C. F. Johnson, a man of considerable means in 1929, died in 1939 with practically no estate, whereas Gertrude Walter Johnson. . . owned the bulk of the Johnson estate in 1939, and if we are to believe her testimony, which I do not, she had acquired it by legitimate contracts with Johnson. It seems that all losses were suffered by Johnson, all profits taken by Mrs. Gertrude Walter Johnson.

"C. F. Johnson had been suffering from delusions for some time and because of the evidence of two physicians and other witnesses and the baseless charges against his first wife (Rose Lee Johnson who divorced him in 1924), I find that at the time that certain contracts were made (1937—deeding apartment houses to Dell Young, Twin Falls) and also when his will was executed (1937) that C. F. Johnson was mentally incompetent."

Accounting Ordered

Wayne Johnson's stepmother was ordered to account to the plaintiff for one-half of the profits received from the rental of the apartment houses, one-fourth of the profits of the ranch and one-half of the funds she acquired at C. F. Johnson's death.

Cases revolved around an oral agreement which the plaintiff claimed to have made with his father in 1924 which assigned all C. F. Johnson's property to his son as sole heir after the elder Johnson's death.

Since evidence of such an agreement was not concrete enough, and since such evidence was "insufficient to justify the court in finding that Gertrude Walter, at the time of her marriage to C. F. Johnson (in 1935) knew of the existence of an oral contract," Judge Stevens cited an Idaho precedent along with six others for authority to find recourse in equity.

After declaring the will of the ex-Twin Falls realtor invalid, Judge Stevens averred:

"I further find that transfers (of real-estate) made in 1937 and thereafter were fraudulent and were made pursuant to a scheme to deprive Wayne Johnson (plaintiff) of a part of his father's estate, and that the same should be set aside; that at the time of his death C. F. Johnson owned three apartments in Twin Falls and an undivided one-half of the Snake River ranch."

After declaring that the estate therefore falls under the inlestate laws of Idaho, Judge Stevens asserted that because Gertrude Walter Johnson had managed the real-estate business in Twin Falls for nine years up to the time of her husband's death, both plaintiff and defendant were entitled to equal shares in the estate.

No Charges Filed After Fist Fight Kills Burley Man

BURLEY, Sept. 12—No charges have been filed here in the death Sept. 8 of Ted Whiting, 27, Burley, who succumbed from injuries received in a fight with a soldier here Aug. 31, according to local police authorities.

The soldier, Ralph Conoryea, is stationed at the prisoner of war camp, Paul, and is not under custody, according to Ora Roy, night-policeman, who investigated the death after Whiting was knocked down. The dead man was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whiting, Rupert.

The two men were taken to the Cottage hospital here where the soldier received first aid. He had two teeth knocked out. Whiting was released upon examination. Roy said, but was taken back for a second complaint of constant headaches.

It is understood that the youth cracked his head on the pavement when he fell, and died from skull fractures, Roy said.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the LDS tabernacle in Rupert with burial in the Rupert cemetery under direction of the Goodman mortuary.

In Fair Condition

Harry Edward Cano, 57, is in "fair" condition today at the Twin Falls county general hospital after spending a "poor" night, according to attendants.

she walked and ran to a telephone at the dam-keeper's house.

Rib Broken

Dr. Hailey reported that he had broken one rib on his right side and injured his ankle but otherwise feels in "pretty good shape." He added that he didn't catch any fish either.

Despite the rib and ankle injuries—and numerous bruises and scratches—the physician was walking about downtown this morning.

Sheriff W. W. Lowery received two reports on the incident Wednesday afternoon, the first to the effect a drowning had occurred near the dam and the second stating Dr. Hailey had been rescued.

Sheriff's deputies and city police officers had been ordered to the scene, but were recalled when the news of Dr. Hailey's safety was received.

Mr. and Mrs. Yerle Moser, friends of Dr. Hailey, had started for Salmon dam by auto to give what aid they could after hearing that the doctor had drowned. But just as they left Twin Falls an oncoming car passed them—with Dr. Hailey at the wheel.

Service Held for Resident of Dixon

Funeral services for Everett L. Rice, Dixon drowning victim, were held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Hazelton mortuary chapel with the Rev. Gregory Reid, pastor of the Hazelton Presbyterian church, officiating.

Pallbearers were W. G. Allen, C. E. York, J. M. Perkins, C. E. York, E. M. Buschhorn, and C. R. Thornton, all of Hazelton.

Interment was in Twin Falls cemetery.

INTOXICATION CHARGE

Two men, booked as O. C. Taylor and Joe Casalli, are being held at the Twin Falls city jail awaiting hearing on intoxication charges. Taylor was apprehended early Thursday morning; while Casalli was picked up by city police Wednesday night.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

2 Burglaries Probed; Safe Gone in One

Twin Falls city police are investigating two recent burglaries, one of which involved theft of merchandise and the other a heavy safe and its contents.

One suspect has been placed under arrest in connection with the merchandise case. He is Frank Van Eaton against whom Police Chief Howard Gillette said charges would be filed.

Investigation showed that Tuesday between 2 and 11 p.m., the Owl Cigar store, 131 Shoshone street south, was entered through a rear basement door and three cartons of tobacco, 100 cartons of cigarettes, six gallons of fruit cocktail and twince meat taken. Officers have recovered the stolen items.

Still missing is a 250-pound safe stolen between midnight Saturday and early Sunday morning from the Co-op Oil company. Second avenue south and Fourth street south. The safe contained four $20 bills, one $10 bill, one $5 bill and $5 in silver, as well as blank checks, invoices, accounts receivable and other records of value to the firm.

The knob of the safe had been broken off by the thief or thieves, before they decided to take the entire safe.

Entry was gained by breaking a glass in a basement window and unlocking the door. An effort had also been made to pry open a window near the alley.

Change of Name Proposed at Buhl Hospital Session

BUHL, Sept. 12—All persons contacted have approved changing the present name of the Buhl Community Hospital association to the Magic Valley Health association, J. J. Brennan, fieldman, reported at a directors meeting recently at the Glen Buck endorph residence.

The reason for changing the name is to eliminate the misunderstanding that the health clinic and hospital memberships are available only to Buhl residents, Brennan explained. He emphasized that health protection provided by the proposed clinic would be available to families of surrounding counties.

At a previous meeting with representatives from Cassia, Lincoln and Gooding counties, action was taken on this matter. A special meeting with these representatives has been called for Monday night, Sept. 16, at the Farmers Automobile Insurance building, Twin Falls.

Patrol Cites Four Speeding to Fair

State highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies are patrolling both U. S. highway 30 and the detour between Twin Falls and Filer daily during the county fair, said J. O. Pumphrey, justice of the peace, here.

Four motorists were fined here Wednesday for exceeding speed limits in posted construction zones, he said. The speed limits posted are 20 and 30-mile zones.

"Motorists should obey the posted speed limits," said Pumphrey, "in order to decrease the possibility of traffic accidents."

Fined $10 and costs for speeding in addition to the out-of-state trio listed yesterday was William O. Anglesey, Twin Falls. All were cited by State Patrolman John E. Leiser. Leiser also cited Edward E. Dohse, Hansen, who was fined $1 and costs for driving an unlicensed trailer. Dohse purchased a license following the hearing.

What Everybody Should Know About

VITAMINS

There Are Many Shades of Vitamin Deficiency ..... from Sickness to Abundant Health!

EXTREME DEFICIENCIES	LESS EXTREME DEFICIENCIES	"AVERAGE" HEALTH	IDEAL NUTRITION
Xerophthalmia and Blindness; Beriberi, Pellagra, etc.; Scurvy; Rickets. Sterility. These extreme deficiencies are not found where people eat intelligently.	Severe night blindness, high susceptibility to infection; fatigue, loss of appetite, constipation, nerve derangements, certain digestive disturbances; spongy gums, loosening or softening of teeth; failure to grow in children; loss of weight and obvious malnutrition at all ages; "semi-invalidism." Many of these symptoms may be due to careless diet.	Night blindness; finicky appetite; frequent constipation; colds hang on; considerable tooth decay; occasional headaches; "lazy" feeling; "alarm-clock blues."	Sense of well-being; high resistance to infections and rapid recoveries; good teeth; normal growth in children; regular elimination; good appetites excellent nerve and muscle tone.

VITAMIN	WHY YOU NEED IT	WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU DONT GET ENOUGH	HOW MUCH DO YOU NEED?	HOW MUCH DOES THE DIET SUPPLY?	WHERE CAN YOU GET IT?
A Anti-Ophthalmic "Anti-Infective"	For normal VISION—to maintain health of certain eye tissues. To help eye adapt itself to semi-darkness. To maintain mucous membranes of nose, throat, intestines, and bladder in a condition which provides a barrier to infection; to maintain the integrity of certain SKIN tissues. To assure formation and maintenance of normal TOOTH ENAMEL. For complete nutrition and normal growth.	NIGHT BLINDNESS, certain cases. The dazzling effect of automobile headlights, for example, last longer than normal. "METAPLASIA" — certain changes in the epithelial and mucous membranes. Skin dryness; plugged hair follicles. XEROPHTHALMIA—a dry eye condition that may end in blindness. Dry mucous membranes are handicapped in their fight against infection; colds tend to "hang on" longer.	The minimum daily protective intake for the infant has been placed at 1,500 U.S.P. units, for children under 12, 3,000 U.S.P. units; for adults, 4,000 U.S.P. units. At least half again as much should be provided for safety and to store a reserve supply in the body.	A recent government survey shows that only one family in three gets enough to prevent night-blindness, that only one family in five gets a liberal supply from food.	Richest sources: FISH LIVER OILS, in liquid, capsule or tablet form. FOOD SOURCES include milk, eggs, butter, cheese, liver, carrots, collards, dandelion and turnip greens, parsley, spinach, most green or yellow vegetables.
B Complex B 1 Anti-Beriberi "Anti-Neuritic"	For normal NERVE nutrition. Required by most body cells for the full utilization of carbohydrate foods (sugars and starches) and the release of their ENERGY VALUES. Helps dispose of pyruvic acid in the cell (a by-product of sugar metabolism, possibly toxic). To assure normal secretion of certain digestive juices. For GROWTH and WEIGHT MAINTENANCE.	In severe deficiency, BERIBERI—a degenerative nerve disease, marked by a multiple peripheral neuritis, sometimes accompanied by edema (dropsy-like swellings) and enlargement of the right side of the heart. ALCOHOLIC NEURITIS, the neuritis of Pregnancy, PELLAGRA and DIABETES—all may be forms of beriberi. Mild deficiency may show itself in: Undue FATIGUE—Loss of APPETITE—CONSTIPATION—Muscle Stiffness—NERVOUSNESS ACHLORHYDRIA—Certain DIGESTIVE difficulties—Failure to GROW.	Children over 12 years and adults require not less than 333 U.S.P. units of Vitamin B1 daily. This is a minimum protective intake. A high standard of nutrition may call for 2 or 3 times as much. Body weight, food intake, and physical activity all affect the speed with which the body uses up its Vitamin B1 supply, while rapid growth, fever, infection, pregnancy and lactation all appear to increase the daily need.	Many authorities believe average diets are little above the protective level—providing a slender margin of safety. Vitamin B is partially lost when the germ is removed from wheat in making refined flour, when cooking water is drained from vegetables. The body stores very little. You must get your share every day!	Richest NATURAL SOURCES: Extract of Rice Bran, Extract of Yeast (liquids), Dehydrated Brewer's Yeast in capsules or tablets; Wheat Germ. Fair FOOD sources include: Whole grains, lean meat, liver, heart, nuts, egg yolk, kidney, beans, certain vegetables, some fruits, milk. Synthetic form: Thiamin Chloride.
OTHER B COMPLEX VITAMINS G (B) 2 B 6 NICOTINE Acid Pantothenic Acid, etc.	These vitamins, usually found with B1, in nature, probably serve a similar purpose—assist in cell or tissue respiration—help in metabolism of carbohydrate foods. May work together to some extent, reinforcing effectiveness of one another. All considered necessary for normal human nutrition. Certain of these factors have anti-dermatitic value.	Vitamin G deficiency may cause certain EYE symptoms—sensitivity to light, "bloodshot" cornea, smooth, purplish tongue. Prolonged shortage causes fissures at the mouth corners and other SKIN lesions; CATARACT in rats. PELLAGRA is a mixed B Complex deficiency—in which lack of NICOTINIC ACID is dominant. This disease is marked by the "3 D's"—dermatitis, diarrhea, and dementia—and by other mucous membrane and gastro-intestinal symptoms. MUSCLE and NERVE weakness in some pellagra convalescents may be caused by Vitamin B6 deficiency. PANTOTHENIC ACID may affect the blood level of Vitamin G.	Vitamin G: From 500 micrograms (200 Sherman units) for the infant to 2,000 micrograms (1,200 Sherman units) for the adult, daily. Nicotinic Acid: Depending on weight, food intake and activity, 15 to 25 milligrams should provide a good daily allowance for the adult. Other Factors: Human requirements for Vitamin B6, Pantothenic Acid and other B Complex vitamins have not been estimated. Natural sources rich in other B Complex vitamins presumably supply a good intake.	Vitamin G: Although available from a wide variety of foods, it has been stated that mild Vitamin G deficiency is very common. Loss in preparation of foods may reduce a fairly generous natural provision. NICOTINIC ACID: Science is just beginning to find methods to estimate the food content of this factor. Wherever pellagra is common, dietary supplies are assumed to be low. "Sub-clinical" pellagra may be more common than formerly believed, care must be taken to obtain ample amounts of this vitamin. Vitamin B6, Pantothenic Acid, etc: No accurate data are yet available.	Vitamin G: Green growing leaves, internal organs (liver, kidney, etc.), powdered milk, peas and beans, cereal embryo, certain yeast strains. In crystalline form as riboflavin-Nicotinic Acid: Extract of rice bran, certain liver extracts, organic and lean meats, some yeast strains, green leaves and legumes. In crystalline form as nicotinic acid. Vitamin B6: Extract of rice bran: egg yolk, peanuts, certain vegetable fats, cereal embryo, legumes. In crystalline form as pyridoxine.
C Anti-Scorbutic	For "CAPILLARY RESISTANCE"—formation and maintenance of certain inter-cell tissues. For normal bone and tooth development. Possibly for cell respiration, calcium and carbohydrate metabolism, nerve function. Of value in promoting the healing of surgical wounds. "Vitamin P" or Citrin, also found in citrus fruits and peppers; may be of value in maintaining capillary resistance and in the control of certain types of hemorrhage.	SCURVY. Capillary fragility and hemorrhage. Weakness, fatigue, loss of appetite. Loosening of teeth. Spongy, bloody gums, certain "rheumatic" joint pains. Pallid, "dirty" complexion. Certain intestinal disturbances. Susceptibility to infection. Failure to grow (in children). Loss of weight. Deficiency may be a contributing factor in cases resembling rheumatoid arthritis; and may be involved in some cases of tooth decay, pyorrhea, and nutritional anemia.	From 10 milligrams (200 U.S.P. units) for the infant to 30 milligrams (600 U.S.P. units) for the adult. These are minimum protective levels, a satisfactory intake might be 2½ to 3 times as great.	Deficiency is usually due to local lack of fresh fruits and vegetables, to ignorance, "notional" dislikes, or to loss in cooking. The latter cause is important, since the vitamin is easily destroyed by heat and exposure. A government survey reports that most families purchase diets which may provide fair amounts of Vitamin C; whether the individuals get their share after food has been stored, cooked, or home-canned is problematical.	Excellent FOOD SOURCES: Oranges, lemons, grapefruit, fresh tomatoes, and freshly squeezed or commercially canned juices thereof, strawberries, raspberries, raw cranberries, certain fresh vegetables, especially red and green peppers, parsley, raw turnip greens. Liver. Made synthetically as ascorbic acid (cevitamic acid)—available in tablets or in ABCDG capsules.
D "Sunshine Vitamin" Anti-Rachitic	To assue proper use of calcium and phosphorus obtained from the diet—and therefore To assure healthful, natural growth of BONES and TEETH.	RICKETS in the child and adolescent—distorted bones and joints, "bow legs," spinal curvature, "pigeon breast," malformed head. OSTEOMALACIA in adults (especially in expectant mothers)—soft, easily fractured bones. Soft, crumbly, decaying TEETH.	Not less than 400 U.S.P. units per day for infants, the same for adults unable to expose themselves to sunlight. Expectant and nursing mothers have a special need for this vitamin. Reserves can probably be built on a level of 1,000 units daily.	The diet supplies very little! Nature intended mankind to get Vitamin D largely from the action of sunlight on the bare body. Heavy clothes, northern winters, smoky city skies—all keep civilized man from his natural supply of sunlight.	FISH LIVER OILS in liquid, capsule, or tablet form, compounds containing VIOSTEROL in oil. Food sources: Salmon, sardines, herring, butter, egg yolk, liver. Approved SUN LAMPS. Direct rays of summer sunlight.
E "Anti-Sterility"	For NORMAL REPRODUCTION in certain experimental animals. Possibly for physical vigor and mental acumen. There is some evidence of its value in the treatment of muscular dystrophy, and habitual abortion in humans.	Proof of human deficiency symptoms is meager. In certain animals, the male becomes permanently sterile; the female is unable to bear young alive, but can be restored by feeding the vitamin. Certain cases of habitual abortion in women have reportedly been aided by Vitamin E.	Human requirement unknown. But this fat-soluble vitamin is thought to be well-stored by the body. A modest daily intake will probably build a fair reserve.	No reliable information available. As in the case of Vitamin B1, however, the richest food sources—wheat germ — is removed from refined flours, and is not replaced by the addition of any synthetic material.	Whole grains WHEAT GERM WHEAT GERM OIL Eggs, certain green vegetables and vegetable oils. In synthetic (or extracted) form as alpha-tocopherol.

AUSTRALIAN COUNTRY BOY

It seems incredible that so violent a dispute could have been provoked by Australia's original dispassionate suggestion that, before reparations are finally imposed upon the former axis nations, it should be determined whether they can be paid.

So far as can be determined from news dispatches the Aussies did not question whether the reparations asked by Russia and her satellites are justified, or dispute that they are payable. Colonel Hodgson, Dr. Walker and Mr. Beasley appear merely to have proposed that the nations that will be asked to sign the treaties should be informed what the facts are.

Soviet spokesman Vishinsky says that Colonel Hodgson is like a country boy come to the big city and eager to try out the gadgets. That is not only untrue and unfair, but the weakest sort of argument.

Colonel Hodgson apparently has read history. He knows what happened when, after World war I, the allies imposed impossible reparations upon Germany. He has seen that wars are conceived whenever any vigorous, potentially powerful people is so degraded, so enslaved that it must fight for existence like a cornered rat.

It is extremely doubtful that the Aussies have any sympathy for any axis nation. They may be 15,000 miles from Paris, but they have plenty of gold star homes to prove that they were at the very heart of World war II. That, however, is not the real point.

Colonel Hodgson and his associates contend that the small allied nations are entitled to a voice in the peace they fought to make possible. He feels that no nation, however small, should be expected to sign a treaty unless it has been told what has gone into that treaty —until it knows whether it is making peace or sowing the fertile seeds of more and worse wars.

Maybe he is wrong, though it is hard to see how any sincere believer in democracy could argue against his position.

Right or wrong, he has the right to make the argument. If the preservation of peace henceforth is to be in the hands of a United Nations, in which all peace-loving peoples are participants, then the fact that his country is small, located thousands of miles from Paris, is immaterial. It would be equally immaterial if Hodgson, Walker and Beasley were country yokels instead of the educated, traveled cosmopolites they really are.

It was high time that somebody should raise the question whether the glorious world of the future is to be fashioned by open covenants openly arrived at by majority rule, or whether it is to revert to secret power covenants forced by the big four upon everybody else.

LANGE IS RIGHT

Polish Ambassador Oscar Lange is entirely correct in saying that co-operation among Great Britain, Russia and the United States is absolutely vital to success of the United Nations.

Unfortunately, that co-operation has been lacking up to now. The two Anglo-Saxon nations, on the one hand, and Russia on the other, have entirely different ideas on every step of the way toward the goal which all three, undoubtedly, sincerely are seeking—universal, permanent peace.

When something must be done, and those who must do it can't agree on method, there has to be compromise upon some middle-of-the-road way that neither prefers but both can accept. We have compromised to the point of searing our democratic conscience. Now what?

INADEQUATE PUNISHMENT

Col. James A. Killian and three other officers convicted by military court of permitting brutality against soldier prisoners have been let off with small money fines and reprimands, despite testimony of several witnesses that Colonel Killian ordered rough treatment.

There is a vast difference between strict military discipline and brutal bullying. The former is essential in any army, as recent Soviet orders make abundantly clear. The latter is inexcusable.

Enlisted personnel involved in the episode drew prison sentences. Notwithstanding the limited responsibility of an underling in an army, such punishment seems just. The sentences imposed upon Colonel Killian and his officers do not seem to measure up to their offenses.

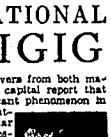

A New York girl admits shooting her husband—but she's so good-looking they may not believe her.

A head of cabbage raised near Seattle weighed 32 pounds. Large enough to run for office.

White flour is coming back soon—to take the place of that which we didn't know was any different.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Ray Tucker

BLAME—Roving political observers from both major parties' headquarters at the capital report that the most spectacular and significant phenomenon in 1946 politics appears to be a resentful rebellion by the white-collar class that has at last grown aggressive and articulate, even though it lacks the organization of competing or supplementary economic groups.

This revolt of the average American is held responsible for the general defeats of the "ins," whether they be Democrats or Republicans. The folks seem to blame Washington for the major portion of their everyday difficulties, and they are hitting out blindly against federal lawmakers.

* * *

VINDICTIVE—This element of the electorate is defined as men and women making from $1,500 to $5,000 a year, possibly more or less, and who have enjoyed no visible benefits from government-handouts, increased wages, rising prices and other political or economic gifts.

These voters do not seem especially sore at the party in power, although the Democrats may suffer more severely because they happen to be in the majority.

The folks are not selective in their punishment at the polls. They are downright vindictive because they feel that their interests have been neglected.

* * *

BITTER—Although any accurate analysis or weighing of the prejudices and psychological forces which move them would be only guesswork, bewildered politicos think that they discern a certain unity of pattern among the protestants.

While not anti-labor in a general sense, they feel that the unions have pushed the normal wage scale too high, that major strikes have kept them from getting the goods they need, and that leaders of the movement seek to run the country.

They are especially bitter against the CIO. They point out that the price bulge was preceded by the administration-sponsored plan for fattening pay envelopes.

* * *

PRICE-FIXERS—The present-day voter is also described as extremely anti-bureaucratic and anti-communist, and he tends to associate these two.

He cannot understand why he should have to live under federal controls, now that the war has ended. He has the feeling that certain officials at Washington—and his principal gripe seems to be against the price-fixers—want to maintain controls simply for the sake of controls.

He apparently believes that he would enjoy a greater abundance of goods at lower cost if Washington kept hands off the economic levers.

His enforced wartime friendship for and confidence in the Russians, including their allies in this country, have vanished. Many suspect that both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations were too generous toward Stalin, and Democratic scouts welcome the more determined and stubborn Truman-Byrnes program toward the Soviet.

* * *

CONFIDENCE—The two party chairmen—Democrat Robert E. Hannegan and Republican Carroll Reece—drew sharply different conclusions from these canvasses.

Mr. Hannegan expresses confidence that the great mass of voters still admire and adhere to the major Truman-Roosevelt program, or, as he prefers to put it in his public addresses, to the basic Roosevelt-Truman philosophy.

Barring a serious economic slump, he feels that there are at least two more ballot-box triumphs—one next November and one in 1948—in their policies.

* * *

PEAK—Mr. Reece maintains that the resentment will reach such a peak two months hence that the Democrats will lose their hold on the house, and possibly on the senate.

He thinks that the party in power has lost popularity with the workingmen, with numerous racial groups and with millions of Republicans who voted for FDR because they thought him more experienced to take a victory over the Axis.

If the white-collar class has taken to the warpath against the "ins," he looks for a Republican congress in January and a GOP return to the White House in January, 1949.

* * *

MAGIC—President Truman's success in "purging" Missouri Rep. Roger C. Slaughter has encouraged him to play a more active role in the 1948 congressional campaign than he had intended a few months ago. His friends insist that there is still magic in the presidential office, and that a swing around might help the ticket in several tight spots.

California Democrats have asked him to appear on the coast, where Sen. William F. Knowland, Republican, is making a neck-and-neck fight of it with Will Rogers, jr., son of the humorist. Sen. James W. Huffman will undoubtedly need White House reinforcement in his reelection battle against Gov. Dricker.

The Mead-Lehman slate in key New York state could use a presidential appeal. So could New England Democrats, especially in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, where the GOP will seek to capture the three senate seats in those states.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

FOUR-YEAR TERMS

Senator Hatch of New Mexico is enlisting support for a proposed constitutional amendment that would change the terms of members of the lower house of congress from two to four years. Senator Hatch proposes to introduce legislation intended to lead to such a change, "in an effort to minimize the division of responsibility that arises when one or both houses of congress are controlled by a political party not represented in the White House."

As examples of what he seeks to avoid he cites the cases of President Wilson and President Hoover, both of whom suffered loss of leadership in the national legislature while in office. He insists that Mr. Wilson's efforts to obtain a satisfactory peace treaty at Versailles were hampered because the Republicans won control of the house before the President went to Paris and he thinks it would have been better for the nation had the house remained Republican during the latter half of President Hoover's term. Whether or not President Wilson would have accomplished more for America and the world with solid support in congress we do not know, but it seems to us that all would have to acknowledge that President Hoover's plans were hampered seriously by a hostile congress.

But we think there is another good reason for favoring the Hatch proposal. Members of the house must run for office every two years. This takes much of their time and energy, undoubtedly distracts their attention from the nation's affairs, virtually compels them to run for office most of the time. Four-year terms for all representatives, we believe, would be of advantage to the nation, even without considering which party may be represented in the presidency at any time. The only good argument against this is that they would be somewhat less responsible to the people if elected for longer terms.—Missoula Missoulian.

IT'S THE GOV'T. THIS TIME

What is being described as the biggest maritime strike in history is not a dispute between labor and management at all, but between labor and its supposed big brother, the U. S. government.

The unions and the ship operators settled their differences amicably and reached an agreement for a wage increase of $22.50 to $27.50 per month. The government wage stabilization board refused to allow more than $17.50, whereupon the unions affected struck for the difference.

The government, which was egging the unions on to raise their wage demands a year ago, is now causing a terrible tieup of shipping over $5 a month in seamen's pay which the ship owners are willing to let them have. The moral? You figure it out.—Nampa Free Press.

POT SHOTS

STALLED

Mrs. Paul Thoman and several other women were driving home the other night after a Red Cross meeting.

They got out on Ninth or somewhere and saw a flashlight waving in the darkness. This made them a bit worried, naturally. Then the flashlight beamed full on them. Mrs. Thoman then stopped the car but the ladies weren't sure just what was going to happen.

Then a polite voice said:

"Pardon me, but could you give me a push? My car has stalled."

It was Charley Parrott, county traffic officer—and the stalled car was the one labeled "Twin Falls County Traffic Patrol."

A PROBLEM

Hi Pot Shots:

The desk sergeant at the police station looked at the police reporter with a tired eye and asked for help. The desk sergeant is ordinarily very calm, but he showed signs of desperation as he told his story to the police reporter.

It seems that every time the fire siren sounds off, everyone and his brother grabs the telephone and starts calling the police station to find out the location of the fire. Ordinarily, the desk sergeant is glad to receive calls from anyone having legitimate business with the police department, but, while he's tied up with the other emergency problems related to the fire, the flood of phone calls he receives makes a one-armed paperhanger look listless.

So the police reporter joins with the desk sergeant in asking that people who are just curious please don't call up the police department about fires. Sometimes the fire might be at your place, and while the desk sergeant is trying to get in touch with patrolmen to send them out to control traffic at the scene, you wouldn't like to have him all tied up telling people where the fire is located.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — Having devoted some attention to the American veterans' committee recently, I believe it would be appropriate to discuss a visit with Jack Hardy, the national commander of the Amvets.

Charles G. Bolte, the national chairman of the A. V. C., and Commander Hardy both insist that their organizations are not rivals but it is my impression that they are about as friendly and mutually cooperative as the CIO and the A. F. of L. or Soviet Russia and the United States and that this is an appropriate political comparison.

The A. V. C. is campaigning to raise $1,000,000, which is a nice pear-shaped objective, for the purpose of running its membership up to a million. The membership was only 60,000 when I interviewed Mr. Bolte, Gilbert Harrison, the vice-chairman, and Edward McHale, the national field secretary, early in August and the contributions at that time stood at $42,479. The contributors included a lot of dirty-rich bleeding-hearts and the correct proportion of Hollywood swimming-pool proletarians and there were fourteen individual gifts, each of which exceeded the total amount of both of the contributions which the Amvets had received when I talked with Commander Hardy on Aug. 21. These contributors were Mr. Bolte, the New Orleans shipbuilder, who gave $300, and some Pittsburgh coal firm whose correct name Hardy did not know, offhand. This donation was $500.

Harrison had hinted that the Amvets were dough-heavy with money from sinister sources but Hardy said $600 was the total and pined for the magic touch of the A. V. C.

The Amvets, in their prospectus, appear to me to be a progressive but not radical organization, while the A. V. C. endorses unemployment pay of $25 for 26 weeks for bums and loafers by demanding such for "unemployment of all kinds, including time lost due to labor disputes." This objective, if achieved, would invite all the no-dam-goods to create fake disputes calling for picket lines which, in the jargon of the union racket, constitute an "unhygienic working condition" on the ground that anyone going through a line is likely to get his head busted by a peaceful picket exercising his freedom of speech with tire-iron. But it would also antagonize decent Americans who would want nothing to do with any outfit that would tax their earnings to pay $25 a week to the bum next door. So I should think the proposition would attract the trash all right but repel the quality. Mr. Hardy says he isn't chumming for trash with bum-bait and is willing to let the A. V. C. have that kind up to the point of monopoly, confident that superior veterans will join the Amvets.

The A. V. C. also demands severance of diplomatic relations with Spain which would mean another civil war and is a weird proposal coming from such as Bolte, who lost a leg in Africa with the British and says he is against killing and hot as horse-radish for peace on earth.

The AMVETS' principal handicap is that his program is the sort of virtuous platform that is flippantly derided as hearth, home, motherhood and the flag, old standard ideals and emblems that have been sneered into absurdity because they are not dramatic. You don't draw a crowd by walking down the street peaceably with your old lady but if you bust one in the snoot and she belts you back and hollers murder the windows fly open with heads out a yard, a block away.

The A. V. C. is using the CIO propaganda technique to make medicine, as our reservation Indians say, when they mean a rumpus. A lynching calls for a telegram to President Truman and a stern demand for justice in the manner of those old Monday morning "crime must go" editorials that always wound up "it's up to you, Mr. District Attorney." These righteous rumblings make no difference one way or another, but they cost a few dollars a month and do they make medicine! The same technique utilizes Sen. Theodore Bilbo and Congressman Rankin, of Mississippi, as devils to be denounced, and the entire left wing really owes those two hardy old mud-cats a debt for faithful service as targets. A few weeks ago, the Dallas A. V. C. picketed a house owned by Mike O'Daniel, "son of OPA-hating Sen. Lee O'Daniel, because young O'Daniel gave notice of eviction to a veteran in a dispute about the rent. The A. V. C. national bulletin printed a three-column picture of the scene, with no statement of the merits of the spat.

To "hate" O. P. A., however, was a crime, even unto the son of the senator although the U. S. congress by the holy democratic process voted it dead. That is the sort of organization that the A. V. C. is, by deliberate choice and policy, and veterans who incline that way are cordially urged that this is the ideal outfit for them.

Hardy claimed about 70,000 members about the same time that the A. V. C. claimed only 60,000 on its way to its million and, by an interesting coincidence, the July 15 issue of the A. V. C. Bulletin announced that, notwithstanding the generosity of its ruddy rich friends, it was found necessary to release a big passel of professional field secretaries or organizers. "Lack of funds" was the reason given.

Some of the CIO unions reject this as an excuse for the discharge of employes so we may find the A. V. C. bealeged by pickets and the Messrs. Bolte, Harris, McHale and Andrew Higgins, the New Orleans shipbuilder, who gave $300, and some Pittsburgh coal firm whose correct name Hardy did not know, offhand. This donation was $500.

Harrison had hinted that the Amvets were dough-heavy with money from sinister sources but Hardy said $600 was the total and pined for the magic touch of the A. V. C.

BOB HOPE

Bob Hope

I spent a pleasant weekend fishing up at Lake Arrowhead, and I've got this tall story to prove it. I confess I never did know much about the sport . . . in fact, I've always thought an angler was a Hollywood agent. I hadn't exactly planned on spending the weekend in the mountains but after getting into Saturday traffic there was no arguing the point.

I found myself a nice cozy spot near a swift running stream where I wouldn't be bothered by competition . . . but she slapped me. Yeah, you should've seen the one that got away.

The fish didn't go for my line either and all I caught was a tuna . . . can and all!

Seriously, though, it was wonderful to be outdoors in the fresh mountain air with a swift current to fight. It was very refreshing and it should've been . . . I'd forgotten to have my hip-boots resoled.

I don't want to brag but I caught the biggest fish in the stream that day. He was a tricky son of a gun and I had to sneak up on him. I was careful though and that guy never did see me cut his line. And if that isn't the truth I'll eat my words . . . on a Friday of course.

Sensational Low-Priced Car Makes Debut Bobbi-Kar Seeks Dealers in Idaho Areas

A. L. Boylan, direct from the BOBBI-KAR home offices is stopping at the Park Hotel. He has been appointed state distributor for this epoch-making new automobile and is seeking dealers throughout the state. Mr. Boylan states that the BOBBI-KAR is the latest development in automotive engineering. Designed to sell for the amazing low price of between 600 and 700 dollars, the car provides low cost, comfortable transportation. All models are 13 feet over-all length. Weighing 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, it has a speed of 65 miles per hour and, powered by a Hercules engine, gets as much as 40 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The low initial cost and economical up-keep in no way detract from the quality of construction. Only by combining the most advanced aviation and automotive engineering has this low cost been made possible. The BOBBI-KAR is the first passenger car in mass production in America to use Torsilastic independent four-wheel suspension to insure passenger riding comfort and is ahead of all other cars in unifying driving mechanisms by placing the motor in the rear of the car. This unit is so constructed that it can be removed in about the same time as it takes to make an oil change . . . Simply by removing thirteen bolts of the engine; the transmission and differential is removed as one unit, make repairs easy. Major repairs can be made without laying the car up for any length of time, by the experient of a "loaner" unit that is bolted into place while the other motor is being repaired.

Many safety features are incorporated in the BOBBI-KAR. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes—X trussed steel frame—steel body supports completely surround the passenger. Steel stamping used throughout the car, usually used only in high-priced cars, and rubber padded, leather upholstered dash board. The new design provides a spacious luggage compartment under the hood in front. The steel top of the coupe model is removable in one piece and fits under the hood, in effect allowing the coupe to be made into a roadster. New models also include a five-passenger sedan and a station wagon. Standardization of parts will insure adequate service throughout the country.

For further information until the Twin Falls district dealership is opened up call A. L. BOYLAN at the Park Hotel, Twin Falls, Idaho, or write the Times-News, Box 10, until Monday, Sept. 16. Office address:

Bobby Soxers Now, Flapper 20 Years Ago

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (U.P.) — Frankie-boy Sinatra is trying to make ladies of bobby soxers. He delivers lectures at 'em. The pulpit denounces them. The medical profession says they are ruining the health of generations to come.

OTHMAN

Comes now Dr. Icie Macy Hoobler, the celebrated child research director, to get a medal in Chicago and to sound off on the doom of the race because bobby soxers don't eat properly.

Horse-feathers was the word for that, Dr. Hoobler. 20 years ago! Remember? Where you were a flapper? And I was, haw, a flaming youth? We were the ruination of the nation. The most famous child specialists of the day said so.

The flapper of the twenties (I'm just trying to refresh your memory, doc) was a flat-chested young female, with her waist-line at her hips, and her hemline above her knees.

Poor Diet, too

She ate nothing much but candy bars, dill pickles and double chocolate ice cream sodas. Everybody denounced the flapper, except me. I thought she was fine.

I took her dancing (Japanese Sandman was our favorite tune) and about 2 o'clock in the morning, when we undoubtedly should have been asleep, I'd take her to a speakeasy on Debaliviere boulevard in St. Louis, Mo.

We drank gin from teacups, doc, but not much because it was expensive. We smoked cigarettes. By now it was 4 a.m. We horrified the dieticians by eating greasy slabs of barbecued spareribs with hot pepper sauce. Then we sat in my chummy roadster (doc, did you ever ride in one of those?) and watched the dawn come up.

Highroad to Hell

Our elders said we were on the highroad to hell. This gave us great pleasure. Wicked was the word for us.

So the years passed, doc. You became research director of the children's fund in Michigan. I got into the newspaper business. The flappers grew up, too. Now their sons, I understand, are known as hepcats. Their daughters are those bobby-soxers, doc, that you regard as the doom of American civilization.

Dr. Hoobler, that is where I came in. Twenty years ago.

So now you're prescribing three meals a day, plenty of rest, and exercise in the sunshine for bobby soxers. What's wrong with skipping a meal once in a while, doc, and guzzling a couple of ice cream sodas? Rest is good, too, but the only way a youngster can feel like a movie star is to go out occasionally with the boy friend and howl. That's part of growing up.

Married Flapper

What I'm getting at, Dr. Hoobler, is the fact that I married one of the flappers that other doctors at other conventions condemned. Sometimes we sit by the fire and chuckle over our early escapades. Sometimes we try to recapture our youth by downing ice cream sodas. They still taste wonderful.

I hate to say it, doc, but I don't think you're getting any place with your campaign to reform bobby soxers. My ex-flapper, with a smile that's reminiscent, says she doubts it, too.

15 Men Put Into 1-A Draft Class

Twin Falls selective service board No. 1 placed 15 men in the 1-A classification and acted upon 90 other classifications during Wednesday night's meeting, which also saw recording of 60 new registrants.

Men placed in the category of being available for military service are: Willard E. Wilson, Lloyd E. Lankford, Robert H. Olin, Kenneth W. Garrett, John C. Prater, Edward J. Yraguil, Winford P. Bowman, Walter E. Austin, Neil J. Olmstead, Donald G. Martyn, Dean H. Britt, Richard C. Kevan, Bruce C. Kunkel, Glen O. Peterson and Gerald N. D. Horejs.

The board shifted 81 men into the 1-C discharged class, and moved one registrant from 1-A to 4-F. One man was reclassified from 4-A to 4-F; white five were noted as having enlisted after being discharged. Two men who had been in the 4-A group were placed in the 3-A classification (fathers under 30).

Each common toad frog is said to be worth at least $7.50 annually to farmers because of the harmful insects it eats.

Doughnut?

This tomato grown by Mrs. J. A. Jones, 530 Fourth avenue east, Twin Falls, has a hole in the middle and looks just like a doughnut. It is entered in the Times-News agricultural oddity contest, for which a $5 prize will be awarded this fall for the oddest "oddity" grown in Magic Valley. Staff photo-engraving)

Boise Man Fined $100 in Jerome; Friend Pays too

JEROME, Sept. 12—Changing his plea to "guilty" this morning, D. C. Koch, Boise and Mountain Home, charged with reckless driving, was fined $100 and $5.40 court costs by Judge William G. Comstock here at 10 a. m. today.

The man, whose sedan was damaged to the extent of $250 when it overturned Tuesday night on a curve six miles south of here on highway 93, had previously pleaded "not guilty."

EXPENSIVE DRINK

JEROME, Sept. 12—Darrell Conrad, Jerome, was arrested here Thursday morning by Sheriff Lee S. Johnson on charges of passing a bottle of whisky into the jail to D. C. Koch, who was awaiting trial this morning.

Brought before Probate Judge William G. Comstock, Conrad was fined $50 plus $5.40 court costs.

Former Richfield Woman Succumbs

RICHFIELD, Sept. 12—Mrs. Alice Homer, former Richfield resident, died in Englewood, Calif., Wednesday, according to word received here. The body will be received by the Burdett mortuary, Shoshone, for services at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. F. L. Manwill, Richfield, will officiate.

The Homers were long time Richfield residents, owning and operating the Alberta hotel here for many years. When "Cap" Homer died, his wife moved to Englewood where she has resided with a sister.

Burial will be in the Shoshone cemetery.

Meat Session Set Here for Tuesday

BOISE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Four meat trade meetings are planned next week by officials of the Idaho OPA district, district Director W. T. Lockwood said today.

He said the purpose was to explain new OPA slaughter control regulations, new retail pricing and procedures and to discuss the meat situation with the trade.

Slaughterers, distributors, retailers of meat and restaurant owners are urged to attend the nearest meeting, Lockwood said. OPA specialists will be present from Boise.

Meetings planned include Idaho Power company auditorium; Twin Falls, 8 p. m., Tuesday.

Mayors Asked to Discuss UP Hookup at Kiwanis Area Meet

Mayors of Buhl, Filer, Burley and Twin Falls will be invited to the Kiwanis inter-club meeting here next Thursday to discuss the possibilities of continuation of the branch line of the Union Pacific railroad west of Buhl to hook up with the main line, it was announced at the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday noon.

Dr. C. A. Robins, St. Maries, Republican candidate for governor, was a guest at the club meeting but declined to talk politics before the club. He explained that it was the policy of the Kiwanis club not to take an active part in politics.

C. H. Jackson, vice-president of the club, reported on the Utah-Idaho district convention held in Idaho Falls earlier this month. He presented a certificate of award to U. N. Terry, past lieutenant governor of the district, for sponsoring the most new clubs in the district.

Henry "Hank" Powers, Twin Falls high school football coach, introduced several members of the local team this year and diagrammed a few new plays that the Bruins will use.

Jackson reported that Kiwanis International is the fastest growing service club in the country and that now there are 2,437 clubs and 165,000 members in the United tates.

Inter-club committee members and the mayors of Buhl, Filer, Burley and Twin Falls will discuss the extension of the branch line, President John D. Platt announced. It has been pointed out that development of rail traffic in Magic Valley is being hampered because of the "dead end" of the Union Pacific branch line at Buhl.

R. J. Schwendiman was program chairman. Visiting Kiwanians were Dr. Robins, A. M. Gerboth and G. E. June, both of Everett, Wash. Guests were J. L. Hamstreet, Burley, and Robert W. DeBuhr, Graydon W. Smith, Alvin Kelly and Roy J. Naider.

Coast Prices Too High; Local Man Likes Home Best

"Prices on the coast are unbelievably high," H. C. Ericson reported Thursday following his return from a three-week trip through Oregon and Washington. "I had to pay 25 cents for a piece of pie and a cup of coffee," he lamented.

Ericson said that in comparison Twin Falls has no housing shortage. In Seattle, he said, hotels comparable to smaller ones here which charge 50 cents to $1 a night, had a minimum of $2 and it was impossible to find a vacancy.

Meals cost him in the neighborhood of $1.50 and haircuts ranged in price from 75 cents to $1.25, he said.

He drew a comparison between local and west coast farms and found the latter lacking. "They keep their farmhouses up all right, but they don't seem to paint their outbuildings. I saw a lot of farms in Washington and they all looked very shabby," he said. "And the streets of their small towns are narrower than those in Idaho."

Ericson visited with friends and relatives in Arlington and Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Polio Display

Because quick action in treating infantile paralysis often prevents crippling, a series of photos displaying treatment is on display in the educational building at the Twin Falls county fair in Filer.

The display of literature and photos was arranged by the women's division of the Twin Falls county chapter Infantile Paralysis foundation, Mrs. Vic Goertzen is general chairman of the display, which is being staffed by Mrs. Frankie Alworth, chapter chairman, and Ray Smith.

175 Attend Zone Rally of Church

More than 175 members of Magic Valley Nazarene churches are in Twin Falls attending the zone rally which will close tonight with a young people's service conducted by the Rev. Albert Neuschwanger, Nampa.

Speaking at the morning sessions Thursday were Mrs. Carl Kinsler, Boise, district WSFS chairman, and Mrs. Henry Wesche, who with her husband, has completed 15 years of missionary work in China. The couple plans to return to China soon.

The Rev. J. A. McNatt, Nampa, district superintendent, addressed the afternoon session, speaking on home missions. At the opening conclave Wednesday night the Rev. Melza Brown, Nampa, district Sunday school chairman, was the speaker.

Towns represented include Filer, Buhl, Jerome, Gooding, Kimberly, Rupert and Twin Falls.

Murder-Suicide Probed in Boise

BOISE, Sept. 12 (U.P.)—An estranged husband, Floyd Dyer, 29, shot and killed Alfred L. Baker, 36, San Pedro, Calif., and then shot and killed himself in front of his wife, Lucille, at the Dyer home early this morning.

JEROME, Sept. 12—Sunday afternoon at the Clay Coffman home in Jerome nuptial vows were exchanged by Olive Coffman and Boyd Rydalch. The couple was married at 4 p. m. in a lawn ceremony.

Judge William G. Comstock, Jerome, officiated in a double ring ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rile attended the bride and bridegroom.

For her wedding the bride was in a two piece ensemble. Her corsage was of white roses and wax lilies.

Mrs. Rile wore a black afternoon dress trimmed with black sequins. Her corsage was of salmon roses. The bride's mother was in grey with a red rosebud corsage.

Following a buffet supper, from a lace covered table centered with a four tiered wedding cake as a centerpiece, the couple left on a wedding trip.

For traveling the bride was in a fuchsia suit with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Rydalch will reside in Jerome.

Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lance, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rile, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holverson, Mrs. Agnes Smith, Patty Johnson, Mrs. Grace Shafer, all of Jerome; Mrs. Garnet Strickland, Sharon Kay and Claude Lee, Mrs. Norvall Coffman and twin daughters, Kay and Carolyn, LaMont and Lewis Coffman, all of Wendell.

SHOSHONE, Sept. 12 — At high noon on Sunday, Sept. 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Stoner in Shoshone, Dorothy Lillian Nawson, daughter of Mrs. Florence Ward, Chula Vista, Calif., became the bride of Lee Beitia, son of Manuel Beitia, Shoshone.

The double ring ceremony was performed before a background of white gladioli and white tapers in the presence of only the immediate families. The Rev. John W. Goodyear, the Episcopal church pastor, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by Harry A. Stoner, wore a green suit with brown accessories and a corsage of peach glamellias. She was attended by Mrs. Francis Grase, who wore a grey suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of white glamellias.

John L. Beitia, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Both are graduates of the Shoshone high school with the class of 1936. Miss Nawson has made her home with the Stoners and Beitia is a business man recently discharged from the army.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served by Mrs. Stoner. The luncheon table was centered with white asters on a handmade lace table cloth. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Elliott, and family, Boise, sister and brother-in-law of Beitia.

The newly weds left immediately following the ceremony on a trip through Utah before returning to Shoshone where they will make their home.

PIN-WORMS CAUSE FIDGETING AND THAT AWFUL ITCH

One of the warning signs of Pin-Worms is a nagging rectal itch which often causes fidgeting and broken sleep, and may lead to even more serious distress.

It is no longer necessary to put up with the trouble caused by Pin-Worms, because science has at last found a way to lick these stubborn pests easily and safely.

Get JAYNE'S P-W at once, first foe of Pin-Worms. P-W is a medicinal aromatic treatment based on an officially recognized drug element which has proved very effective in dealing with this ugly infection. The small P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms. P-W means Pin-Worms relief!

Women's Division in County Fair Takes Spotlight

(Photos and layout by Martha MacNamara-staff engravings)

At the top, extreme left, Betty Harding, Buhl, slings a mean roll and comes in for first place in the junior division for the county home demonstration. Expert skill in packing lunches is displayed by Jeanette Childers, Filer, who indicates nutritious elements at the left, while Jerry Brown, Filer, at the right, follows instructions. These girls won first place in the senior division for the county. Wandering to the antique building the cameraman found Mrs. T. D. Conner, Filer, left, and Mrs. W. R. Chase, Twin Falls, right, admiring rare items. Mrs. Connor is holding an original Godey print from the Godey magazine printed in December, 1859, which was entered by Mrs. E. J. Hayes; another first prize winner is the cuckoo clock hanging on the wall to the left, which was made in Switzerland and is more than 125 years old. The clock was entered by Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Seager. Mrs. Seager was formerly Virginia Ann Chase. The clock hanging to the right tells the day, week, and month of year besides the very ordinary job of recording time. It belongs to Mrs. H. A. Peterson, Buhl. The silver service, over 100 years old, also entered by Mrs. Hayes, Twin Falls, won a blue ribbon. Mrs. Chase holds a dinner set, which is comparable to a museum piece and which has been in the J. J. Brennan family, residents of Buhl, for three generations.

MAGIC with Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour

CAN YOU REMOVE THE BILL WITHOUT UPSETTING BOTTLES?
It's easy to earn the reputation of expert party magician, with this mystifying trick! And just as easy to earn the reputation of kitchen magician, by serving Sperry "Hots" in 5 minutes from package to plate. 7 specialized ingredients are already in Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour! You just add liquid and bake. For baffling bill trick, see #1 in Answer Box below.

TEACH YOUR SILVER DOLLARS TO DO A MERRY DANCE
Parlor tricks like this are fun! But kitchen tricks are even more appreciated! Such as serving Sperry pancakes often. All you do is (1) add liquid, (2) stir only till smooth and (3) pour on griddle. Country-churned buttermilk in Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour gives Sperry "Hots" their rich, old-fashioned flavor. To make dollar dance, see #2 below.

A PACKAGE OF PLENTY FOR BAKING SLEIGHT-OF-HAND
Seeing is believing! Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour makes not only waffles and pancakes with that down-on-the-farm flavor . . . but also equally super-duper dumplings, coffee cake and muffins. Easy recipes for all 6 quick dishes right on the box.

SPERRY'S MAGIC ANSWER BOX

1. Set up two small milk bottles with dollar bill between, as illustrated. It will seem almost impossible to remove bill without upsetting bottles, but it can be done with a little practice. Take hold of edge of bill with left hand, and hold taut. Raise right hand and bring it down sharply, hitting bill with edge of hand halfway between bottle and other hand. Bill will snap out without upsetting bottles.

2. Place dollar on its rim on table and hold in position with tip of left hand index finger. With right hand in position illustrated, rub finger holding coin slowly at first, and then increase speed. Suddenly release coin, hitting edge at same time with thumb of right hand. This will make coin spin, although to audience it looks as if rubbing did it.

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener isn't going to put himself out on a limb and blindly remark: "The Cowboys will win!" in the Pioneer league's own "world series" starting at Jaycee park Friday night, but here's something the bettors down in Salt Lake City should remember before they become too sure that their class-bloated Bees will triumph — the Cowboys all season have played their best ball against the Utahns.

The bettors should get this:

In 27 meetings this season, the Cowboys have won 16 of them.

Jimmy Arnold, the Cowboys' hurler who probably will pitch at least two games in the series—three if it goes seven games—has beaten the Bees no less than four times and in two games shut them out.

Bob Chesnes, the Bees' No. 1 hurler, has gone down in four of his last five outs against the Wranglers.

And when the chips were down before, in the playoff game for the first half title, the Cowboys won.

But here's something that YOSS has to admit:

The Bees are stronger now, especially with the willow, than they were during most of the season. They've added one good pitcher, Larry Powell, to supplement, Chesnes and Lennie Kasparovich; two hard - hitting outfielders in Joe Revia (which he isn't when the grandstand wolves snarl at him here) and Willie Enos, and, too, Manager Joe Orengo is hitting and fielding better than at any time this season.

Good news for the Magic Valley fans:

Clifford "Jiggs" Bartholomew, the Gooding southpaw, has been recalled by the Cincinnati Reds from the Augusta club in the Sally league, where he was sent after returning from the military service.

Earl Toolson, Burley youngster, is back in pitching shape after a minor operation, and has already added a win to his total for the Louisville Colonels in the American association.

Sol Israel, recalled by the Cowboys, was picked for right field on the Wisconsin State league's all-star team.

AND—THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: Poor Mr. Maury Doerr and Bill McRoberts, the Cowboy bigwigs, won't get a cent out of the first four games of the championship series — it'll go to the players and league. Maury now will have to sell a few dozen more "tin" houses and Bill another block or two in the business district to recoup.

In casting, it is the tip speed which gets the line out. There can be no greater error than overloading the rod and arm, yet among fishermen this is a common error.

12 GAMES ON MAGIC VALLEY'S GRID BILL TOMORROW

Big 7 to Open Season With Three Battles

The eyes of Magic Valley gridiron followers tomorrow will shift to the Big Seven conference as more teams swing into the new season. All members of the conference will be seen in action and all in regular league play except the Oakley Hornets, now under a new coach. Howard Stone, formerly of Utah State, who will play the Twin Falls Bruins at Lincoln field at 2 p. m. The game was originally scheduled for night but was changed to afternoon because of the opening of the Pioneer league championship series here in the evening.

As a matter of fact, there will be a double-bill at Lincoln field, Coach Kermit Perrins' Twin Falls Cubs, who lost most of their 1945 regulars, entertain Coach Wilson T. Harper's Kimberly Bulldogs at 4 p. m. The Bulldogs already have a victory under their belt, having defented Murtaugh last week.

Burley at Gooding

But the Big Seven will attract the most interest because on the bill are two games that may go a long way in deciding the championship, even at this early stage of the season. At Gooding, wily Coach Rulon Budge's Burley Bobcats, who have only five regulars back from its 1945 championship aggregation, will tangle with Coach Elmer Parke's Solons, who, after downing Shoshone, has championship aspirations—aspirations founded on nearly a score of 1945 lettermen.

Meanwhile, at Rupert, Paul Taylor will make his debut as coach of the Jerome Tigers, opposing veteran coach George Hay's Rupert Pirates, the mystery aggregation of the conference.

In another conference game—at Buhl—two coaches new to the Big Seven will battle. They are Don Requa, former Big Seven star, who is coaching the Indians, and Maurice Clayton, Filer, Clayton's Wildcats lost its opening game to Castleford but the team has shown great improvement in practice this week.

The new 11-man B conference will show two games with Art Skeem's Castleford Wolves opposing Jack Martin's 1945 champions at Hagerman and Murtaugh playing host-ney to Eden. Other members of the conference will play outside teams—American Falls playing at Olenda Pepper Martin's Aberdeen contingent at Declo and Shoshone and Kimberley playing in Twin Falls.

Also on tomorrow's bill will be three six-man conference battles. Paul will go to Acequia, Albion will go to Heyburn and Bliss, playing football for the first time, will go to King Hill.

Shoshone Here

Coach Norris Wilson's always colorful Shoshone Indians varsity will play Coach Hank Powers' Bruin junior varsity at Lincoln field at 3:30 p. m. today. This will be the first time in the history of the local school that the junior varsity has played.

10,000 Idahoans Ask Hunt Permits

BOISE, Sept. 12 (AP) — Applications on three deer hunts on the Minidoka national forest swamped the state fish and game department here on the first day public drawings for hunting permits.

Chief clerk R. E. Hoffman said there may be more than 10,000 applications on hand when the drawing opens today. More than 7,000 cards for Cassia division hunt were tabulated yesterday.

How many have been sent for the Albion divisions and Sublette-Black Pine division has not been determined.

The department will issue 3,250 permits for the Cassia division. The number for the other two hunts will be 400 each. Dates of the Cassia hunt are Sept. 27 to Oct. 6. The other two smaller events will be conducted Oct. 13 to Oct. 20.

Archers, expected to number as many as 75, will seek to bring down deer with long bow and broadhead in a portion of Minidoka national forest south of Twin Falls. The archery hunt will last until Sept. 22.

PEPPER MARTIN QUITS

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—John (Pepper) Martin, released at his request as manager of the San Diego Padres, was reported today interested in a Texas baseball job after four seasons with Pacific coast league clubs. The Padres, for the remaining two weeks of the season, will be managed by Jim Brillheart, veteran pitcher and coach.

THE NED DAY WAY, No. 2: Well-Fitting Ball Foundation of Good Bowling

By NED DAY
(Second of a series written for NEA Service)

Selecting a ball that fits your hand and getting the proper grip are the foundation of good bowling.

Ned Day

A well - fitting ball should hang with weight evenly distributed between the fingers and thumb, balance so as to be easily controlled with the least amount of friction to the hand.

There are two kinds of balls, one with two-fingered grip, the other with three-fingered grip. I prefer the two-finger grip because it is easier to control.

In either case the span between inserted finger and thumb should be just wide enough to allow room to slip a pencil touching both between the palm and the surface of the ball.

If the pencil is loose enough to fall out it shows the span of grip is too narrow. If it can't be slipped through at all it shows the span is too wide.

Unless the span is just right control is lost.

The other fingers are spread comfortably so as to have the right feel.

A common fault with beginners is to choose a ball with a narrow span because at first contact it is possible to get a tight grip. It prevents a proper weight distribution, however, by leaving most of the weight on the thumb. Also the bowler is forced to bury the thumb too deeply, which results in what is called pinching.

In determining the proper span for your hand, place the thumb in the hole to the depth desired—a depth that will allow of easy release. Next lay the hand flat on the surface so that the knuckle of the middle finger extends about a quarter-inch beyond the finger hole. Thus when the finger is inserted the grip is correct, besides being comfortable and allowing for proper manipulation.

The average ball is nine inches in diameter, weighs 16 pounds. Smaller balls are made, however, to accommodate young bowlers or those who find the average too heavy.

Regardless of the size of the ball the method of chosing the grip remains the same.

NEXT: The stance.

Ned Day's grip leaves room to slip pencil under palm.

Bees 13-10 Choice To Win Big Series

You—that is, follower of the Twin Falls Cowboys—can get $12 for each investment of $10 in a wager if your favorites come through in the Pioneer league championship series scheduled to open at Jaycee park tomorrow night. These were the odds Bees—the Wranglers' opponents, at the Mint, a betting center in the Utah capital, according to information received here from the Associated Press.

Several offers of wagers have been made here. One man offered to bet $20 against $80 that the Cowboys will take the first two games of the series, to be played here Friday and Saturday nights.

The possibility that the Wranglers' ace, Jim Arnold will pitch in three of the series games—if the classic goes seven contests—heightened Twin Falls' chances. He will open tomorrow night against either Lennie Kasparovich or Larry Powell, while Vance Carlson will be Manager Earl Bolyand's choice in the second contest. Manager Joe Orengo will most likely use Bob Chesnes in this contest, having already announced that he will not employ his No. 1 moundsman against Arnold, who has beaten him every time that they have met this season.

President Maury Doerr said that—in the absence of a ruling from President Jack Hallwell—he will employ the three players—outfielders Sol Israel and Chuck Baksal and third baseman Lynn Stone—who have been recalled from Fond du Lac of the Wisconsin State league despite a protest by Salt Lake City. Hallwell, who will attend the opener, may make a ruling at that time.

The Cowboys were in fine fettle yesterday. They had won all the events in a field meet at Bob Tuesday night. George Leyrer won the 50-yard dash, Israel the shoe scramble and in a relay race Manager Bolyard lapped Manager Walt Lowe of the Pilots.

Fans Turned Away

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—Several thousand fans lined up at a downtown ticket office today to purchase tickets for the first Pioneer league playoff contest in Salt Lake City, and some 500 were turned away without tickets.

Another 800 seats are to go on sale tomorrow.

Leyrer Sets Stolen Base Mark At 56; Cowboys Finish Second

By MAJOR HOOPLE

BOISE, Sept. 12 — The Cowboys defeated the Boise Pilots, 7-5, even though Manager Walt Lowe's aggregation made it 15 hits to the Wranglers' 8, and finished the second half of the Pioneer league season in second-place behind the Salt Lake City Bees, whom they will meet in the championship playoffs beginning at Jaycee park in Twin Falls Friday night.

Bob Wittig, the Cowboys' lone southpaw, went the route, while the Wranglers routed their former mate, Jimmy Hicks, early and Larry Susee finished up for the Pilots.

Georgie Leyrer, Cowboy centerfielder, stole one more base, thereby setting the Pioneer league all-time record at 56, two more than the previous mark established in 1939.

Heslet, Lowe Off

Manager Earl Bolyard, looking ahead to the big series with the Bees, allowed catcher Buddy Heslet and shortstop Hal Lowe a rest, in their place he employed Harry Bright, behind the plate, and Lynn Stone at the short field. Sol Israel was again in right field.

A walk to Leyrer, Jack Radtke's infield out, Leyrer's theft of third and Israel's single to center gave the Cowboys a run in the first inning. Then, after Boise had scored once in their half of the first frame, the Wranglers rallied for four runs in the second. With one out Ned Sheehan beat out a roller along the third-base line, but was forced by Bright. Wittig and Leyrer walked to fill the bases. Jack Radtke singled to score Wittig and Bright. Bonomi then singled to right and when Bonnell let the ball get through him for an error, Leyrer and Radtke counted. Suser relieved Hicks and stopped the uprising.

Bolyard Wins Argument

Boise got another run in the second frame and it wasn't until the fifth that the Wranglers broke into the scoring column again. With one down, Stone walked and Dickie Powers singled him to third. Sheehan hit into a double-play and the umpire ruled that Stone had scored before the play had been completed after a protest by Manager Bolyard.

The Pilots got another run in the fifth, which was matched by the Cowboys in the seventh on Bonomi's single, his forceout by Stone and Powers' double to deep left center.

The final two Boise runs came in the ninth inning.

Ride 'em Cowboy—Chuck Did

4,000 Fans Cheer Buckeroos at Opening of County Fair Rodeo

An estimated 4,000 spectators cheering through the first rodeo of the Twin Falls county fair at Filer, Wednesday night, saw Fess Reynolds riding Appolonia and Larry Finley on Cougar Mountain stay on to be the only two busters qualifying in bareback bronco busting, the opening event. The feature attraction of the evening was Helen Sue Goldy, a tiny tot, who performed miraculous feats of balance, assisted by her father.

This was followed by more bareback bronco busting in which only three stayed on the required time. They were Ralph Stanton on Ice Nugget, Jim White on Payoff and Frank Finley riding Farmers Boys. There were seven entries in this event.

Vern Goodrich and Brown Jug Reynolds gave an exhibition of trick roping and later, with Faye Blessing, put on an exhibition of trick and fancy riding.

Chuck Sheppard Leads

In the cowboy calf roping event the lowest qualifying time was 21.6 seconds for Chuck Sheppard, followed by Red Hall, 22.2 seconds; Ike Walker, 23.4; Leonard Huff, 24.8; Blaine Ramey, 35.6; Blaine Hanson, 37. Four other contestants received no time.

In the amateur bronc riding, which was combined with the saddle bronc event, an amateur, Bobbie Bell stayed on Tippy Tin to qualify and Clifford Harris, another amateur didn't quite make it.

Of the professional riders in that event, Chuck Sheppard on White Cloud qualified as did Larry Finley on Surrender; Claude Morris on Blarney; Jim White on Burlesque and Frank Duce riding Dishpan. There were four other contestants.

Mildred Mix Morris, one of the official timekeepers, took more than a stab at bronc busting, staying on longer than the time needed to qualify.

Morrell Trio Applauded

The Morrell skate trio put on a good exhibition of defying gravity on roller skates. Especially applauded was a tap dance performed by one of them on roller skates.

Ray Boss took the shortest time to throw a steer, throwing it in 7.6 seconds. Chuck Sheppard was a close second with a time of 7.8 seconds, followed by Ike Walker, 10.2 seconds; Frank Finley, 12 and Joe Roberts, 19.2.

In the Brahma bull riding contest, none of the riders managed to stick on until the whistle and most were thrown soon after the vicous bulls were out of the chutes.

The Sheriff's Mounted posse went through their paces and enacted a fine pageant depicting the succession by which the states entered the Union.

The rodeo for Thursday night will begin at 8 p. m.

2 Stars Ousted

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP) —Smiley Quick stole the show in the wild first two rounds of match play in the national amateur golf championship at Baltusrol golf club.

Smiley knocked out the tournament medalist, Skee Riegel, who shot 69-67 in the qualifying rounds.

He defeated the Canadian champion, Henry Martell, 2 up, and then disposed of Riegel on the final hole. On that last crucial hole Smiley laid a pitch-and-run dead from at least 100 feet for a birdie four and a 1-up win.

Missing was the name of Strannahan, the young millionaire from Toledo. Marvin "Bud" Ward, the defending champion since 1941 — there having been no tournaments since then — eliminated the wealthy and likeable youngster, 2 and 1, late yesterday.

Handicap Golf Tourney Set by Women's Club

The first women's handicap tournament ever staged at the Twin Falls municipal links will be staged next Wednesday with all women golfers invited to participate.

Plans were made for the tournament yesterday at a meeting of the new Twin Falls Women's Golf association of which Mrs. C. R. Fox is president. Three cards must be turned in to the secretary by Sept. 15 in order to establish handicaps for the big event. An entry fee of 50 cents will be charged.

Mrs. Fox appointed Mrs. Harry Elcock as entertainment chairman and Margaret Bacon as publicity chairman.

Following the meeting a putting tournament was held with Mrs. E. W. McRoberts the winner. She limited her putts to 15 for the nine holes. Mrs. L. E. Hinton and Mrs. R. S. Tofflemire were second with 16 putts each. Mrs. Adams was high with 25 putts. Each woman received a golf ball as prize.

It is ladies' day at the golf course each Wednesday. Meetings are held at 1 p. m.

Cattle—Generally steady; top $20.25, ceiling.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A tired looking stock market generally did little either way today as sellers and buyers reverted to caution and activity tapered to the highest of the week.

Wednesday's brisk rally was extended moderately at the opening but failed to hold when motors weakened and a number of rails and industrials stepped into the minus column. For a while losses ranged from fractions to 7 points. Extreme setbacks then were reduced in most cases or converted into modest advances by midday. Dealings slowed appreciably from then on with a slight pickup in the final hour. Trends were rather cloudy at the close.

Among the few wider advancers were Norfolk & Western, up 4; Barber Asphalt, up 3¾, and Cudahy, up 3½ in the wake of a special $1 dividend. In front were Youngstown Sheet, Standard Oil (N. J.), General Electric, du Pont, Consolidated Edison, Goodyear and United Aircraft.

American Tobacco yielded 7 on a single sale. Chrysler was off 3. Lesser casualties were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Can; Southern Railway, Great Northern and Allied Chemical.

Bonds were selective improved.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The market closed irregular.

Damage Suit Asks $29,400 For Disability

Charging that negligence on the part of his employer, Harrison Griffith, resulted in permanent injuries when he was struck by a team-drawn skid on Oct. 12, 1944, Jay H. Johnson Thursday filed suit in district court for $29,400 damages, plus costs.

Johnson charged that on that date, while he was assisting Griffith in harvesting clover, a team borrowed from a neighbor bolted into the field where Johnson was working. He alleged that the corner of the skid struck him as the horses passed, breaking his right hip and leg in several places.

The complaint places the blame for the accident on Griffith who, it is alleged, neglected to fasten the horses or remain close enough to the team to control it.

The plaintiff claims that as a result of his injuries he was hospitalized from that date until July 3, 1946 and is permanently crippled.

Because of his injuries, Johnson claims that he is permanently unable to do any labor or work and must use a cane at all times to walk. In his complaint, he states that prior to the accident he was "an able bodied man of 63, in reasonably good health and capable of earning not less than $1,200 per year."

Attorney for the plaintiff is Earl E. Walker.

Two grand champions, 10 blue ribbons, eight second place awards and two thirds—that was the impressive record made by Bill Winkle's entries in sheep competition at the Twin Falls county fair Wednesday. The Filer youth, who is a three-year-letterman in football, won most of the honors in open classes, and also walked away with two firsts in the Future Farmers of America competition. He is shown here with the grand champion Hampshire ram in the open class. This ram also was first in judging of ram lambs under one year, first in pen of four and first as buck in a flock in open competition. Young Winkle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Winkle. Local Resort Men Fined for Liquor Transportation Here

Individual fines of $200 and costs were paid Wednesday by John Cristobal and Jim O. Kopp, Twin Falls, who appeared in probate court here on a misdemeanor charge, unlawful transportation of intoxicating liquor, and pleaded guilty.

Cristobal, owner, and Kopp, manager of a Twin Falls amusement resort, were apprehended Tuesday one mile north of Hollister on U. S. highway 93 by W. R. Chesley, state liquor law enforcement officer.

Probate Judge S. T. Hamilton ordered confiscation of the cargo, which consisted of 26 cases of whisky, each case containing 12 one-fifth gallons. The shipment was turned over to the Idaho liquor control commission. Under current state sale prices, the cargo of 312 bottles was valued in excess of $1,000.

In addition to fines totaling $400, the pair paid court costs of $7.70. They were represented by Attorney Ray D. Agee.

K. of C. Set Plans For Open Meeting

Paul Kreft, chairman of the Knights of Columbus membership committee, has announced that plans for an open meeting were completed at a membership committee meeting Wednesday night.

The open meeting will be held Wednesday, Sept. 18 at the parish hall at which time men of the parish will be entertained. Refreshments will be served.

Declo Host to Magic Valley's Presbyterians

DECLO, Sept. 12—The Westminster Presbyterian church was host to the annual meeting of the Twin Falls Presbytery Wednesday as doctors from Twin Falls, Jerome, Buhl, Wendell, Bellevue, Hazelton, Eden, Gooding, Burley and Declo participated in the all-day convocation.

The men's Presbytery meeting at 9 a. m. in the LDS recreation hall was moderated by the Rev. D. Gregory Reid, Hazelton, with the Rev. Harvey Harper, Jerome, serving as state clerk.

Dr. Ross, SIC field representative of the board of National Presbyterian Missions and Edwin Couzzens, returned missionary from the Cameron Presbytery of West Africa, addressed the group.

Reports of commissioners who attended the Presbyterian General Assembly, Atlantic City, in June, Elder A. D. Wilcox, Declo and the Rev. Max E. Breenleef, were heard by the gathering. The Rev. Martin W. Crabb, new Burley minister, was received into the group.

Semi-annual Presbytery of the Magic Valley churches is scheduled for April, 1947, in Twin Falls.

The ladies Presbyterial, held at a separate meeting at 9 a. m. at the Declo church, was presided over by Mrs. Sam Eakin, Jerome.

The welcoming address was given by Mrs. A. D. Wilcox, Declo, and Mrs. Edwin Cozzens, returned missionary, also addressed the group.

A special ceremonial, including presentation of a pin and a certificate of membership in the board of foreign missions, honored Mrs. H. M. Wagner for the years of activity she has given the Presbyterial.

Sixty-seven ladies were served dinner by the Declo Presbyterian ladies at the LDS recreation hall. Mrs. A. D. Wilcox was chairman of the dinner committee.

Democratic Women To Meet at Jerome

JEROME, Sept. 12 — The Jerome County Democratic Women's organization will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Nina Stuart, 300 South Oak, here.

All interested women may attend, it was announced.

India Villages Destroyed by British Army

By WALTER MASON

NEW DELHI, India, Sept. 12 (AP)—The crash of bombs, snarl of strafing spitfires and the thunder of artillery have been echoing and re-echoing through the rocky defiles and inaccessible valleys of India's wild and woolly northwest frontier for more than three weeks.

Nearly a dozen villages have been destroyed or greatly damaged as punishment for the abduction of a British political agent. No casualties have been reported, said the reliable New Delhi sources who unfolded the story, but that is because the game is played according to rigid rules in the arid mountains where tough, crafty hillmen hold forth much as they did in Kipling's day.

One of the rules is that several days notice by messenger or leaflet must be given villages scheduled for attack so that inhabitants may make their way with their belongings into hillside caves and hiding places to watch in safety as their homes are blasted into bits.

(In London neither India office nor foreign officials could be reached for comment.)

Plan to Destroy Towers

New Delhi sources explained that the intent is to destroy the tediously constructed habitations and watch-towers, often 50 feet high, of tribesmen whose building materials are extremely scarce.

This is in order "to keep them busy and out of mischief for the next few months."

Those sources related this sequence of events in the latest "incident" in the innumerable frontier series:

A large band of heavily armed tribesmen attacked and captured a party including Maj. J. O. S. Donald, political agent of the chief commissioner, in southern Waziristan, only seven miles from headquarters of Razmak where a full brigade is stationed.

The party was held prisoner within four miles of Razmak, but it might as well have been 400 because of the terrain and the fact that it is considered foolhardy for troops to attempt to dislodge even a few tribesmen from their rocky mountain perches.

Agent Abducted

A couple of days later the agent sent a note saying that he was being reasonably well treated and that he had been abducted because the Shabi Khel tribesmen of the division of Mahsuds felt that they had been treated unfairly in the distribution of cloth and sugar by the British.

The Ksabi Khel were told that they could expect punishment commensurate with the length of time that the prisoners were held. The hillmen replied promptly that they would kill their captives if they were attacked. Lengthy negotiations through the village headman finally won release of the prisoners, but the British claimed that the Shabi Khel had failed to comply with certain unspecified demands by the government of the northwest frontier province.

As a result, planes and artillery were sent—after due warning—to attack the hill villages in early August, but still there were no overtures from the hillmen. Punitive action was resumed in the last two weeks in August and nearly a dozen villages were wholly or partially destroyed.

But the rough and ready tribesmen have not given in yet—and that's how it stands.

Hughes Finishes Hop Across U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Howard Hughes, millionaire movie producer and industrialist, arrived at La Guardia field a few minutes before midnight Wednesday flying his own converted B-23 two-engined transport.

Hughes said at the field he had flown from California to Kansas City in five hours and 50 minutes, had taken a rest at Kansas City and then made the final lap of the flight to New York in four hours and eight minutes.

The flight was his first since he was severely injured nine weeks ago in the blazing crackup of an experimental aircraft he had designed and constructed for the army.

Walkout Labeled Anti-Government

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—William K. Jackson of Boston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, declared here that the current maritime strike "calls for clarification of national labor policy," because it "is a strike against the government—against a decision of the wage stabilization board."

Jackson said in an address before the 60th annual convention of Printing Industry of America, Inc., that the shipping walkout cuts to the heart of the stabilization program and the attempt of government to control wages and prices."

Puerto Rico is the most mountainous island in the south Atlantic.

Chiang's Army Progresses in Drive on Reds

By JAMES D. WHITE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Behind the continued deadlock in China lies the military fact that Chiang Kai-shek's central government armies are making important progress against the communists.

The communists had demanded a cease-fire order. They say Chiang's reply to this is "unsatisfactory." By all indications, he is sticking to his original stipulation that the communists give up territory and railway zones they occupied after Japan surrendered.

Not having given these up, the communists are being pushed out by Chiang's partly American-equipped forces.

Reaching Important Areas

Right now his armies are converging on the most important of these areas—the mountainous borderland between north China and Inner Mongolia which is centered on the city of Kalgan.

By capturing Kalgan, Chiang would deprive the communists of their most important postwar base. There had even been some talk that they might move their capital to Kalgan from Yenan. He also would drive a wedge between the communists in Manchuria and those in Shensi, and acquire the main railway network of north China.

His pressure on Kalgan is from three directions. From the west, provincial troops of Gen. Fu Tso-Yi are attacking the town of Tsining, but their striking power is limited. Similar provincial troops under Shansi's Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan are resisting a weakening communist siege at the not-distant coal center at Tatung.

Driving Into Pass

From the south, government troops are venturing northward from Peiping into formidable great wall pass at Chinglunshelno—one which never has been taken by frontal assault.

From the east, crack American-trained government troops are advancing through mountainous Jehol province. There seems to be two of these columns. One is thrusting westward from the capital at Chengteh. Probably the most important one is that which last week captured the town of Chihfeng farther north.

There has been no recent mention of this column, suggesting that its advance may be the really important one with the rest mere diversions or supporting actions.

Hawaii to Egypt Flight Delayed

HONOLULU, Sept. 12 (AP)—The take-off of the "Pacusan Dreamboat" for a flight across the roof of the world to Cairo has been delayed for several days by discovery of a gasoline tank leak.

The announcement said the defective wing tank would be removed and flown to the mainland for repairs. The giant bomber had been scheduled to take off today, weather permitting.

Filipinos Arrest Leftist Peasants

MANILA, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Philippines government, refusing to bargain with the left-wing Hukbalahaps, today pressed its campaign of mass arrests of the peasant guerrillas in the strife-ridden provinces north of Manila.

Gen. Mariano Castaneda, provost marshal, issued a statement declaring the mass arrests were a military necessity and "shoot to kill" orders would apply to anyone who openly defies the constituted authorities.

Domestic Air Trade Plan of Pan American

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Pan American World Airways plans to enter the domestic airline service, cutting the coast to coast run to less than half the present time at reduced fares, the company announced.

Seven miles a minute speeds feature the passenger air program submitted today to the civil aeronautics board in Washington. Under the plan, 13 cities will be connected, using new types of clippers flying far above the weather in air-conditioned cabins providing ground-level comfort.

Under the present plans, the trip from New York to San Francisco will be made in 8½ hours, against the fastest time at present of 12½ hours. The New York to Los Angeles run will be made in 5½ hours contrasted with present speed of 13¼ hours at present. It will be possible to make the New York-New Orleans run in 3½ hours; New York to Houston, three hours, and New York to Miami, 2½ hours. New York to Seattle will be made in 5½ hours.

According to Pan American officials, the line was the first to order and will be the first to receive the 430-mile-an-hour Republic Rainbow and the 340-mile-an-hour, 80-passenger Boeing Stratocruiser. Both these types of clippers will go into the new domestic service. They were ordered as part of Pan American's $100,000,000 postwar equipment program.

The Republic Rainbow holds 46 passengers and has an operational range of 3,500 miles, using four engines. Payload is 1,000 pounds and cruising level, 40,000 feet. The plane is nearly 100 feet long with a wing span of 129 feet and a height of 31 feet with gross weight of 116,500 pounds.

The new four-engined double deck Boeing strato-cruisers carry 80 passengers by day, including 14 lounge seats and 41 passenger seats and 18 berths at night. They have an operational range of 3,500 miles and carry a payload of 21,610 pounds at a ceiling of 30,000 feet. The planes are 110 feet long with a wing spread of 141 feet and are 38 feet in height.

Vets Get Appeal To Oppose Reds' Move on Housing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Representative Luce, R., Conn., appealed today for veterans' cooperation toward averting any squatters' invasion of housing like that in England, but veterans leaders scoffed at the possibility that it might happen here.

They concurred, however, with Mrs. Luce's proposal that prompt steps be taken to induce real estate boards to make "all vacant property immediately available for personal occupancy at reasonable rates." Some urged local condemnation proceedings to put idle homes into use.

Mrs. Luce told reporters she fully expects "communist elements" to try to organize a drive among homeless veterans to take over any unoccupied housing.

She wired six veterans' organizations asking voluntary action by veterans' committees to head off any developments like those in England and to "forestall government seizure and allocation of vacant property."

CONCO Automatic COAL STOKERS

OPA Priced Model W-1 $225

CONCO HEAT MEANS Satisfaction

There is no longer any need to struggle along with hand-firing your heating plant, constantly tending to its needs, shoveling in coal and taking out ashes, and never be comfortable or free from the constant responsibility of being a fireman. The CONCO Stoker automatically takes charge of your furnace by doing just the right thing at the right time to keep the indoor temperature always comfortable and even — and keep you out of the furnace room.

CONCO HEAT MEANS Comfort

On freezing "January" days, CONCO Controls keep "June" temperatures in your home — without constant hand-firing, without shaking grates, without hauling ashes. And on spring and fall days — with their frosty mornings and sunny afternoons — a CONCO Stoker is a treasure. It always provides just enough heat for solid comfort — never too little, never too much. You need build your fire only once a year.

CONCO HEAT MEANS Economy

Hand-firing your furnace is NEVER an economy! Hand-firing wastes fuel, wastes heat, wastes time, wastes home-furnishings. Stoker firing SAVES money, and the incomparable efficiency of the CONCO STOKER means stoker firing at its economical best. The CONCO Coal Feed Selector typifies this EFFICIENCY ENGINEERING. It actually "tunes" the amount of coal fed to the individual requirements of a heating plant — adapts the stoker to the kind of coal available to you.

CONCO HEAT MEANS Cleanliness

Your house furnishings stay cleaner longer with clean CONCO heat. There is no beaten path of dirty footsteps up and down to the basement. The door on the CONCO ventilated coal hopper forms an air-tight, dust-tight seal. An air jet introduced into the hopper provides forced ventilation, prevents gases from the fire from backing up into the basement.

CONCO HEAT MEANS Dependability

Supposing a piece of rock, or metal gets mixed in with your stoker coal. In the past stoker manufacturers provided for this possibility in one of two ways: Either, with a shear pin that broke under pressure, or, by clutches that kept the stoker hacking away at the obstruction. The first method meant replacing greasy, inconvenient shear pins; the second method wore a stoker out before its time. And so, CONCO provided something new — a simple electrical safety that shuts the stoker off until the obstruction is removed through the convenient clean-out door. It's another of CONCO'S basic advantages.

CONCO HEAT MEANS Quality

The CONCO Stoker represents the ultimate in stoker fired heat from every standpoint — efficiency, low cost, convenience, cleanliness, dependability. CONCO was among the first and best names in the automatic heating industry — a financially sound, nationally known company.

Woman Likes Searching for Nazi Art Loot

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—It's a question whether any person in the American occupation forces in Germany enjoys his work more than does Capt. Mollie J. Regan, formerly of Boston, Mass., and now a loot sleuth.

That's a clipped version of her formal title—art intelligence research officer in the restitution branch of the monuments, fine arts and archives section of the economics division of the office of military government for Germany (U.S.).

Her job is to help track down works of art and other valuables looted by the nazis from countries they formerly occupied, and classify them for restitution to their rightful owners.

The department in which Captain Regan works—headed for 13 months by Maj. L. Bancel La Farge, Mt. Carmel, Conn., and now by Richard F. Howard, Hopewell, N. J., has recovered many millions of dollars' worth of stolen art in its search through the nooks and crannies of occupied Germany and beyond.

Million Books Recovered

Recoveries and restitutions in a year have included more than a million books and nearly 50,000 works of art, some of them priceless masterpieces. France alone has received 40,000 cultural pieces.

Some of these recoveries have been made in museum basements, some behind false walls in houses, in barns and in sealed salt mines.

Captain Regan's part in this vast hunt is not a traveling job. She sits in a small office in military government headquarters here, surrounded by packing boxes and an occasional minor masterpiece. One of her field workers shares the cramped quarters with her as she keeps an organized network of activity going over the continent.

Captain Regan advises her department chief of particulars of missing objects and classifies clues as to their whereabouts. She works with the army's G-2, the counter intelligence corps, and maintains liaison with representatives of other occupying powers, with United Nations military missions here and with art intelligence in occupied Austria.

Americans Involved

The culprits on whom she helps get the lowdown are not all big nazi looters. She also helps prepare cases against accused members of the American forces.

The loot sleuth had admirable training for her job. She majored in fine arts at Radcliffe and studied art at Harvard. Painting is one of her hobbies.

When she was graduated in 1937, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Regan, West Roxbury, Mass., took her on an art tour of Europe and the orient. On their 15,000-mile trip the family saw nearly every important museum in the world and visited countless monuments and churches.

"That's when I did my leg work," Mollie smiles.

Timber Cutting Controls Urged

JACKSON, Wyo., Sept. 12 (AP) — An appeal for public control of timber cutting on privately owned land was made to the Association of Western State Engineers by Arval L. Anderson, chief of the division of engineering in the intermountain region of the U. S. forest service.

Anderson, addressing delegates from 17 western states declared that some form of public regulation on private timber cutting is essential "if we are to prevent virtual destruction of our timber industry."

Earlier engineers heard M. W. Straus, U. S. commissioner of reclamation, ask for the aid of engineers in bringing about a revision of reclamation laws to create a streamlined policy.

Boy Saved From Burning Church

ASHLAND, Ore., Sept. 12 (AP) — Four-year-old Jackie Hall was rescued from the belfry of the burning Christian church here late this afternoon when firemen heard his cries at an unopened window and reached him by ladder.

The church was destroyed.

The fire departments reported the boy said an older companion had fled the building when flames spread from a dressing room where the two were playing. Smoke forced the youngster to the upper room and into the belfry.

Hospital Site Taken

BLACKFOOT, Sept. 12 (AP) — Bingham county commissioners have agreed to accept title to a tract of land chosen as the site for a new Bingham county hospital. The action will permit the federal government to advance funds for the hospital planing and assist in its financing.

The site is a two-acre plot at the corner of Poplar and West Idaho streets.

Something New in Oddities

While members of the Twin Falls civil air patrol squadron were burning sagebrush at the airport preparatory to the air show next Monday, they ran across the piece of corrugated cardboard box which fire had accidentally shaped into a nearly perfect map of Idaho. So marked was the resemblance that they turned it over to the Times-News research department, which agreed it's something that might never occur again. Harold (Hack) Woolley, who was on the scene when it was found and who will vouch for the fact that there was no tampering in any way, is shown here holding the oddity. (Staff photo-engraving)

Ever Hear of Potato Headache?--Well, Agricultural Chief Has Big-Sized One

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON, (NEA) — Our good secretary of agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson, is taking a vacation down on his New Mexico farm for only one reason. His physical health is good. All he wants to do in the next few weeks is to forget about potatoes. He has warned that the first person who says the word in his presence will very likely get his head lopped off.

During his stint as boss of America's food he has had probably more serious problems than any of his predecessors. Last winter saw him in the middle of the worst global famine in the history of the world. Then came the battle over OPA and hundreds of other situations. But none of them got him down the way potatoes did.

When he first took office last July one of the first things the party strategists told him to do was find some way to get rid of the potato surplus. They said it was political dynamite. He solemnly promised them he would. That was before he really got familiar with the U. S. spud situation.

The further he got into it the worse it looked. On the surface it seems simple. Europe is hungry. America has too many potatoes. All right, send the surplus to Europe. That's where the trouble begins.

Shipping raw potatoes in a boat isn't a good idea. They either freeze and are ruined or spoil. Few can get across safely. Then, too, the potato is 90 per cent water and what you would be doing is sending tons and tons of water overseas. There never was a shortage of that item.

Well, Anderson thought, let's dehydrate them and send them over that way. The army has a lot of dehydrating equipment. We'll use it.

But dehydrating is an expensive process. When they're finally dried out the cost is about 25 cents a pound. And that doesn't include the original cost of the spuds. UNRRA couldn't afford such potatoes—that's the only thing dried potatoes can be used for—at that price, nor could the foreign countries. For the same price they can buy more than four times as much wheat.

The same problem of expense was involved in canning potatoes, too expensive.

On top of that they couldn't even give the potatoes away in foreign countries because the shipping space was more urgently needed for wheat.

To the secretary's credit, he finally did dispose of his potatoes, however, at home. Only one or two per cent were actually wasted. He gave as many as he could to institutions, relief agencies, etc. The department talked the American housewife into using more potatoes instead of bread. Some of them were made into starch. Most of the surplus potatoes went to the nation's distillers to make into alcohol. This transaction lost money as far as the department of agriculture was concerned but the U. S. treasury got it all back, and more, in the form of beverage tax.

The prohibition outfits lambasted him for doing this but he bore up under it.

Then for this year he ordered the department to do all it could to discourage potato planting. He had the parity price cut to the bone. It caused a lot of squawks but he got the acreage down to where he wanted it. Then nature stepped in.

The estimate for the early crop this year showed there would be a record yield per acre. Anderson began getting worried. The estimate on the interim crop predicted an even greater yield. The same was true for the late crop. He had asked for 378,000,000 bushels and was getting 445,000,000 instead.

None of the problems of too-many-potatoes have changed. The law forces the department of agriculture to buy all the surplus in order to maintain the parity price.

You can't do much more with them this year than you did last. On top of it all the potato crop in foreign countries is good this year so that eliminates even the presence of a market overseas.

Well, the distillers are coming to Anderson's rescue. They're taking most of the surplus. Anderson hopes the prohibitionists won't kick up too much of a fuss about it. At least the potatoes will bring in taxes this way.

The only thing the secretary doesn't think he will be able to face next winter, when the food situation abroad is again expected to be bad, is to be charged with letting people starve because the government let potatoes be made into liquor when they could have gone to feed the hungry.

Record Feed Crops to End Meat Famine

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (U.P.)—An agriculture department official said today the prospect of record food and feed crops this year may spell the beginning of the end of meat "famines" in the United States.

He warned, however, that an ample supply of feed will not automatically mean an end to meat shortages. He said it will take time to build up the supply to a point where it will meet the present tremendous demand.

The department reported yesterday that farmers now are harvesting what promises to be the largest food and feed crops in history despite adverse growing weather which cut the corn crop more than 125,000,000 bushels in August.

Encourages Livestock Output

This official said a record grain crop would tend to reduce feed prices which automatically would encourage livestock production.

Corn futures prices already are much lower than current cash prices.

"There isn't any incentive for producers to feed corn at present high prices to $16.25 hogs," he said. "But next winter when corn is down to $1.25 or $1.20 a bushel hogs at that price will bring a good profit."

The result, he said, probably will be that producers will increase their livestock herds as long as demand remains strong and there is the promise of reasonable feed prices.

"Somewhere along the line," and it's still a long way in the future as long as income remains high, supply and demand are going to strike a balance," he said.

Dollars Too Plentiful

The official pointed out that there probably wouldn't be a meat shortage if it weren't for the fact that dollars are so plentiful. He said the average American will eat about 148 pounds of meat this year compared with 126 before the war.

"There is ample money in circulation now," he said, "and the result is that people who before the war had meat only once or twice a week have meat five or even seven times a week. The result is a meat shortage."

The agriculture department said the nation's eight principal grain crops should total about 164,000,000 tons this year despite the drop in corn prospects. This would be 9,000,000 tons larger than the record 1942 output.

Corn Above Record

The corn crop was estimated at 3,371,707,000 bushels compared with the previous record of 3,203,000,000 in 1944. Wheat production was placed at 1,167,319,000 bushels compared with last year's record crop of 1,123,000,000.

On the bright side, pears were added to the list of record crops in August. Also at record levels were tobacco, peaches, plums and truck crops. Peanuts, grapes, cherries and sugar cane were in the near-record group.

Average or better crops were forecast for hay, soy beans, dry peas, prunes, apricots and sugar beets. Cotton and rye are far below average. Other below-average crops are sorghums, flaxseed, buckwheat, dry beans, sweet potatoes and pecans.

Search World For Minerals, Miners Urged

DENVER, Sept. 12 (U.P.)—Operators at the 49th national metal mining congress were urged by Secretary of the Interior Krug today to extend into foreign fields their search for tin, chrome, tungsten and other minerals rare in this country.

Industrial foreign expansion, Krug said in an address, can be achieved without offending any other nation and it would permit the United States to build up supplies of these metals in the event of an emergency.

Urges Nazi Study

The secretary suggested that nazi Germany's "planned and successfully executed programs for maximum use of mineral resources" should be studied in this country because "this is the kind of enemy we may have to defeat in the future."

"We can achieve a better and more permanent solution than the nazis did by our own method of individual freedom, with cooperation from top to bottom, mutual understanding and general agreement on principals and practices," he added.

Krug said the federal government "is obligated to assume a major share" of the financial risk involved in prospecting for new mineral resources."

Favors Control

In an interview, the secretary said he favored continued controls on the price of silver but was not "in a position to say whether or not the present price is too high or too low."

S. S. Clarke, superintendent of the Eagle-Picher Mining and Smelting company of Cardin, Okla., told the convention he did not favor a standard wage for mine production workers.

An incentive pay system instituted by Eagle - Picher, he said, resulted in an increase of production per man from seven to 9.2 tons in a period of four and one-half years.

Livestock Killer Weed Found Nearby

Here's one type of locoweed, of which a section has been found growing near Hollister and spreading. It's a livestock killer. No less than 20 horses have already typed from the loco.

This is astragalus bisulcatus or two-groove poinsonvetch. This plant has been found growing abundantly close to the Idaho-Nevada border. (Staff photos and engravings)

Loco Weed, Deadly to Livestock, Found In Area--One Rancher Loses 20 Horses

By BILL NELSON

In past years, Idaho has been relatively free of the vicious livestock killer, locoweed, but more recently, different species of plants causing locoweed disease have killed horses near Hollister, have been found in several places in the state and in many places in other states close to the Idaho line.

The seriousness of the locoweed encroachment was revealed by J. N. Grimes, director of the noxious weed bureau. Within a few miles of Hollister there is a section, 640 acres, covered by locoweed. Although definitely of the locoweed branch of the astragalus family, the weed bureau has not as yet named the subdivision of the species. It is most like the half-moon loco or astragalus argillophilus, an unpredictable livestock killer.

Cattle and horses have eaten this type of locoweed and lived; others have died. The 20 horses lost by Leslie Skeem, Hollister, had eaten of this patch, and died.

White locoweed, or rattleweed as it is called because of the sound of its loose seeds within their pods, is one of the most widely dispersed, geographically, of the plants causing the locoweed disease. This plant has made its appearance in eastern Idaho and is spreading.

Found on Salmon

More recently, astragalus sabulosus or straight stem poisonvetch, has been found in the Salmon tract north of Amsterdam. Another member of the family, astragalus bisulcatus, "blue pins" or two - groove poisonvetch, has been found growing in Nevada close to the Idaho line. These two are of the locoweed family and very poisonous to livestock, but are not true locoweeds as they poison directly rather than drying.

There are a lot of mistaken ideas prevalent as to the effects of locoweed on livestock, arising possibly from the fact that different weeds have different effects and horses and cattle do not react to the weed as do sheep.

Among the first symptoms of locoweed poisoning in horses is a general change; actions, appearance, gait and eating habits. The horse will have a tendency to drag its hind feet and there is a general loss of muscular control.

Becomes Solitary

With progression of the disease the animal becomes solitary in its habits and loses its awareness of surroundings. It will shy violently often falling over backward at a sudden movement or the approach of a person. In addition there appears an abnormal growth of tail and mane while the coat becomes rough and shaggy.

Cattle are affected similarly, although steers will jump backward when startled rather than rear over backward. There is also a violent shaking of the head particularly when the animal is heated.

A locoed steer is apt to charge into anything and impossible to drive as it is just as likely to run into the driver as it is to go straight ahead. Though generally dull and passive, locoed cattle will sometimes become frenzied.

In appearance they are similar to locoed horses. Their coats become shaggy and their eyes take on a starry look.

Sheep are not as visibly affected. They evidence the weakness associated with the disease but seem to have more muscular control than other stock. A strange fact is that black face sheep are more apt to eat the weed and become locoed than are Merinos.

Goats, however, are violently affected. Their hind legs become affected first and as the disease progresses they gradually lose all control of them. In the advanced stages, loss of control in the front legs is also evident.

There are several things all locoed livestock have in common. With the progression of the disease, there is a tendency to avoid all other types of feed, thus the primary cause of death in any type of locoed stock is thought to be starvation. In addition, locoed livestock drink less and less as the disease progresses.

There exists no specific treatment for the disease, Grimes said. Livestock that have not eaten too much of the locoweed can be prevented from eating more and can be nursed back to health on a diet of wholesome feed.

Experimentally, horses have improved on drinking Fowler's solution and cattle on injections of strychnine, treatments not practical under large pasture or range conditions.

Locoweeds, for the most part, are hard to eradicate. The complete eradication of locoes which grow in abundance over vast areas is economically impracticable if not impossible.

The few patches of locoweed within the state are still controllable. The most effective method of clearing locoweed from pasture is laborious grubbing, cutting the roots two or three inches below the ground, Grimes said.

"If the locoweeds now in the state are sought out and destroyed now, there will be no large herd losses from locoweed in years to come," he said.

Early Pioneers Die

PAUL, Sept. 12—Word has been received here of the death in Lake Mills, Wis., of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, early pioneers of the Minidoka project. Dr. Thompson drove over muddy dirt roads to attend patients in the early days. Mrs. Thompson died a month after her husband.

Burley Agent Seeking Labor In Oklahoma

BOISE, Sept. 12 (U.P.)—Extension service experts are being sent to Oklahoma, Arkansas and other central states to recruit "a couple of thousand farm laborers" for Idaho's approaching harvest, R. K. Pierson, state supervisor of farm labor, said today.

T. J. Chester, Pocatello, district agent for the University of Idaho extension has gone to Stillwater, Okla., to confer with officials there, Pierson said.

Chester will also make arrangements for farm worker recruitment in Arkansas and other central states. When arrangements have been completed with extension officials in these states, other farm labor officers will be sent from Idaho to aid in actual selection of workers and in escorting trains of workers back to Idaho.

"We have already been advised that there are workers available in Oklahoma and if possible to obtain enough workers from that one state we will do so," Pierson said. "However, we will make arrangements with several states that should recruitment not provide enough workers in one we can promptly move into another."

Scheduled to leave next week to aid in recruiting and escort work are Levi Draney, Burley, Cassia county farm labor assistant; C. J. Wright, Blackfoot, Bingham county, and Douglas Pincock, Rexburg, Madison county assistant.

Governor to Seek New Grain Law

REXBURG, Sept. 12 (U.P.) — Gov. Arnold Williams assured the Southeast Idaho Grain Growers association here that he would instruct the state department of agriculture to draft a grain grading and weighing law for submission to the next legislature.

Williams advised President Le Grand Smith and Director Arthur Harris that he would direct the state agency to investigate the grain grading and weighing laws of Montana, Oregon and Washington.

The grain growers association in a meeting here with Williams urged a law similar to those states.

At present wheat grown in Idaho is tested for protein by the grain companies purchasing the wheat. Prices are paid on the basis of the protein content. A premium is paid for wheat having a high test while wheat with a low test is subject to a penalty.

Caves Studied As Shelter in Atomic Wars

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 — If an enemy began spraying rockets with atomic warheads over the United States today, the best place to find shelter might well be near Louisville, Ky.

There, you would find two "big holes" in which to take refuge.

One is Mammoth cave, about 100 miles south of Louisville, in Kentucky; the other is Wyandotte cave, about 35 miles west of Louisville, in southern Indiana.

The entire population of Louisville (319,077 persons) could be crowded into either cave. Either would be the world's biggest air raid shelter.

Caves Studied

Mammoth and Wyandotte, along with the famous Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico; Shenandoah caverns and Luray caverns in Virginia; and Howe's caverns in New York state, are among some 1,000 American caves now under study by a joint army-navy committee board for possible use in the next war—a war in which rockets with atomic heads may streak through the stratosphere at speeds of 3,000 miles an hour to hit targets halfway around the world.

The joint board is primarily interested in the space of caves, their ceilings, humidity, overhead cover, soil and rock conditions, access approach, interior conditions, concealment from aerial observation and proximity to transportation, communications, utilities and housing.

Great Ceiling of Rock

Some of these caverns, particularly Carlsbad with its one level of 1,320 feet, have passageways and rooms many hundreds of feet below the surface, and under great ceilings of solid limestone or granite.

These deep levels are believed far enough below the earth's surface to make them safe from atomic bomb attacks.

In other ways, they also may be considered perfect bomb shelters.

They have natural air conditioning and a year-around temperature of between 52 and 55 degrees; most of them are dry, but some, including Mammoth, have small underground rivers.

Williams Boosts High School Wage

MONTPELIER, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gov. Arnold Williams said here he would lead a drive to increase teacher salaries in Idaho "to a level which will give these highly trained people an income commensurate with their training and responsibilities."

Williams made the declaration to a Democratic rally arranged by M. Edward Williams, Bear Lake county chairman. Other Democratic state office incumbents and Robert L. Summerfield, Twin Falls, lieutenant governor nominee, attended.

State Treasurer Ruth Gerhart Moon said that "in 1946 as in 1918 the nation is again at the crossroads. We must return a Democratic congress to Washington to prevent a repetition of the mess that followed World war I.

Virginia Bruce's Spouse Released

SEATTLE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ali Ipar flew back to Hollywood with his bride Wednesday afternoon.

Released from the army under the father classification, the Turkish scenario writer and former film producer caught a United Air Lines plane for the south to rejoin Actress Virginia Bruce, his bride of two weeks from whom the army snatched him because of complications over passes from Ft. Lewis. After two months in the army, Ipar was released on the ground that Miss Bruce's children by a previous marriage were his legal responsibility.

Ipar had the distinction, for a private, of being discharged an hour ahead of schedule.

American citizenship was granted to the Puerto Ricans in 1917.

2,000 'Babies' Of Physician Stage Parade

MADISON, Conn., Sept. 12 (U.P.)—They flew diapers like banners in this summer resort town, and a little man shouted "hello" to his 2,000 babies.

Milo P. Rindge wasn't their daddy, but he was their doctor. He was the man who spanked life into them the moment they were born.

Of course, not all the children could come—some had grown up and gone out to meet the world—but a great many were on hand for the big parade down Madison's Post street.

For it was "Dr. Rindge day" and everybody for miles around turned out to pay their respects to the 74-year-old man who had started practicing medicine in Madison 40 years ago.

"I came to stay just five years," Rindge admitted. "After that, I was going to do something big. I was going to be a specialist."

But he never left the little town. He never returned to the city to make his bid for fame.

"I guess I became just another country doctor," Rindge said, with a sigh. "I wanted to leave at first, but I fell in love with Madison. I just couldn't go."

Boys wore a big blue button, reading "I am a Dr. Rindge baby," while the girls were decked out with the same thing in pink.

Rindge sat in his big, quiet parlor and shook his head.

"I don't know what all this fuss is about," he explained. "They claim that I've delivered 2,000 babies, but I don't think it's so. Anyway, I went out of the baby business at least 10 years ago."

There was a testimonial dinner at the Madison Beach club, and at least 500 of Rindge's friends were there. Proceeds will become a part of Dr. Rindge's memorial fund. He will specify the charities to which the money is contributed.

Pocatello Registers Glen Taylor's Son

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Among the new seventh grade students registered at Franklin junior high school here is Arod Taylor, 11-year-old son of U. S. Sen. and Mrs. Glen H. Taylor.

With his parents and his brothers, Paul John, 4, and Gregory Allen, two months, Arod returned Sunday from a vacation in Yellowstone national park.

Mrs. Dora Taylor said the boy had been allowed to advance as rapidly as possible in Washington, D. C., schools which he attended last year, and is now a year ahead of the average 11-year-old student.

The population of Jerusalem is about 150,000.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath).
